PREFACE

VOLUME I of A Book of Strattons (published nearly ten years ago), after giving sixty-six pages concerning Strattons in England and Scotland, gives all that the compiler has found of the early Strattons in America and their descendants to the fifth generation. This second volume is a continuation of Vol. I, beginning where that left off and coming down to the present time. This volume is complete in itself to this extent—it contains a brief sketch of the first Stratton of each Colonial line in America, and then as the descendant's name appears on the page his ancestry is given through all the generations back to the first Stratton of the line to which he belongs. But the full records of the first generation, and the details concerning the second, third and fourth generations, which form so large a part of Vol. I, are not repeated here, and of course none of the English data is here repeated.

To the compiler it has been a matter of exceeding interest to trace the movements of the different generations of Strattons, to study their characteristics and conditions from the time when our English ancestors settled on the Atlantic coast of the New World down through more than two hundred and fifty years to the time when their descendants are found in every state of the Union, in every trade, profession and line of business, and in many varied conditions of life.

To trace the descendants of the different lines and branches as they have remained for many generations within a few miles of the first homestead or have steadily migrated westward; to locate the different families, and different members of the same family, as they have moved from place to place; to ferret out connecting links which had long been lost; to study the source of family traditions, adjust conflicting data and solve puzzling genealogical problems—all this has long been a work of unflinching interest and now the compiler has the satisfaction of feeling that many records have thus been preserved which otherwise would soon have become obscure or irretrievably lost.

It would be impossible to give the authority for all the data which this volume contains but the utmost care has been taken to give nothing as fact that has not been verified by the best authorities obtainable. All available printed matter has been consulted and information secured from church, town, court and military records, from wills, deeds, society and college catalogues, from family Bibles, gravestones, old letters and aged people. Many hundreds of letters have been written and often there have been months, even years of waiting for replies to inquiries (some of which have not yet arrived!) and hours spent in deciphering almost illegible handwriting (in which the Strattons seem proficient!) and in endeavoring to read between the lines what the writers have failed to express in words. Often only the barest genealogical data has been sent—birth, marriage, death—where some items of biographical and historical interest concerning the older Strattons could easily have been contributed. That the volume gives more about some than others is due often to the fact that the compiler knew more about them, or was furnished more biographical material by her correspondents.

No doubt there are many whose lives deserve a more lengthy notice, but the compiler did not know of it. In some instances a biographical sketch has served to preserve historical and geographical items of interest concerning some section of our country. Some family records are incomplete, and perhaps inaccurate, owing to the silence of those who might have contributed complete and correct data.

The aim has been not to laud the living (that is left to some future genealogist) but "to gather up the traditions that still exist; to show the world that if we are not called upon to follow the example of our fathers, we are at least not insensible to the worth of their characters, nor indifferent to the sacrifices and trials by which they purchased our prosperity." Edward Everett.

As the manuscript for this second volume goes to the press no one realizes more fully than the compiler the errors that such a book must necessarily contain and the incompleteness of the work, yet it seems best not to longer delay publication. As more complete data accumulates, a supplement to this volume—a small third volume—should be issued. If then, errors are here found will not those better informed supply corrections, and if any reader possesses data which would render the genealogical record of any family more complete, or biographical and historical items which would add to the interest of Stratton history, why not forward same to the compiler at once?

Above all it is most earnestly hoped that the way may soon open for an extended research in England, seeking to establish there the ancestry of each line of Strattons in America. If our Colonial ancestors belonged to armigerous lines of Strattons, as seems very probable, would it not be of interest to their descendants to know the arms to which they are entitled and the act of bravery, or chivalry for which this right was conferred upon their ancestor? Among the many descendants living in various parts of our country to-day may there not be some who would be willing to help direct and finance such a research, and thus add interesting material not only to Stratton lore but to early Colonial history as well?

And now to the many Strattons who have kindly contributed data and pictures, and who from time to time have sent words of encouragement and appreciation the compiler would here extend grateful and heart-felt thanks.

EXPLANATIONS

THE arrangement here is the same as in Volume I, and the system of tracing from one generation to another is so clear and easily understood it is hoped that each Stratton into whose hands the book falls will acquaint himself with it. The few abbreviations used will be readily understood.

As in Volume I, and other genealogical works, the small figure following the name and placed above the line indicates the generation from the emigrant ancestor.

The number preceding the name is an individual number and denotes the person's place in the line of Strattons to which he belongs.

The minus sign (—) placed before a number in the lists of children's names shows that this individual is not traced further.

The plus sign (+) preceding a number denotes that the number and name are repeated on a succeeding page (the number in black-faced type) where a more extended account of that individual is given. If, as in a few cases, the individual number in black-faced type is enclosed in brackets [thus] it denotes that the parentage of that individual is not positively established.

The compiler had hoped to continue in this volume the charts of Volume I, pages 310-325, but finding this impractical, at present, has left this feature for some future volume.

Vol. I. contains the names of Strattons in Colonial Wars and in the Revolution.

The lists which have been collected of Strattons who served in the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the Civil War and the Spanish-American War must also wait for some future publication. They would fill many pages. In most cases the service has been included in the individual biography.

As this volume comes from the press more than two million of our country's young men are enrolled in the great World War. Among them are many Strattons. It is the desire of the compiler to secure a list of all Strattons in Military and Navy service in this War. By all means let us make this list complete for a future volume and so do our bit toward honoring those of our own name who are giving their service and their lives for us, for our country and for the world.

Special care has been taken with the indexes. A son marked with a plus sign (+) in a list of children is indexed but once and then on the page giving his fullest record. His parentage, with place and date of birth (if given) may be readily found by tracing back his individual number. Conceding to many requests the compiler has refrained (in most cases) from giving dates of birth later than 1850. Names of children who died young are not indexed. In other families than Strattons only the family name is given in the index, even though several members of the family may be found on the pages indicated. Sometimes a name appears on a page several times although indexed but once.

The names of those whom Strattons have married are in black-faced type, while the parentage of the wives of Strattons is in italics.

In Volume I, Part II, the Colonial Strattons are arranged in the order of their first appearance in America or their connection with English records. In this volume, Part IV, they are grouped according to the colony in which they lived, or in which has been found the earliest records of them.

STRATTONS IN ENGLAND

"Writ in remembrance of things long passed." IVIN.

THE little additional research which the author has been able to make in England since the first volume of this work was issued has not resulted in establishing our ancestry there. It has, however, discovered clews which will probably help to bring about the desired result whenever a more extended research is undertaken.

There seems no reason to doubt that among the great amount of material on the Strattons in England in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries may be found the ancestry of most, if not all, the lines in America to-day.

Possibly some may be traced back to the places where the name originated—Stratton being a "place-name" from Street-town (stræt-tûn), the early Anglo-Saxon settlements made on the old Roman roads in Great Britain (see p. 3, Vol. I). These street-towns were widely scattered and from them many families took the name Stratton (Stretton, Straton, &c.) when surnames began to come into use about the eleventh century. Thus in 1148 we find Richard filius Roberti of Street-town whose son was later known as Robert de Stratton and whose grandson, in 1210, was Thomas Stratton.

The records of baptisms, marriages and burials in many of the old parish registers are so complete, and the Stratton wills and administrations so numerous and so easily accessible, that a more extended research could hardly fail to reveal much of interest to the Strattons in America.*

*In a letter of Mr. Sherley's to Gov. Bradford of Plymouth, dated Jan. 2, 1631, he mentions that "Straton & Fogge" were above a month trying to straighten out the accounts of two vessels, the White Angel and the Friendship, both evidently Bristol ships. Ralph Fogg had dealings with N. E. early. These ships sailed to Plymouth with supplies and then to the Maine coast for fishing trips. Bristol men sent ships to Monhegan Isle, on the coast of Maine, for cod fish as early as 1616, perhaps earlier. John Stratton of Suffolk was in N. E. in 1628.

BILLS OF COMPLAINTS

The following "complaints" from Duchy of Lancaster Court records are given merely to show the quaint old language of that period:

In most humble wise complayninge shewen vnto yor honor (Sir Ralph Sadler, Knight, Chancellor of the Duchy) your poore and daylie orators Thomas Balles and Elizabeth his wyef That whereas one Willm Mere was in his leif tyme lawfullye seased as of fee tail generall to him and the heires of his bodye by coppie of Court Rolle accordinge to the custome of the Manner of New Castell in the countye of Staff of and in divers copiehold messuages and landes lying and beyng in Shelton in the said countye and had yssue Alice who was maryed to one Thomas Stratton And after the said Willm Mere died of such estate seased by whose death the right of the same premisses discended and came vnto the said Alice his daughter and heire By vertew whereof the said Thomas Stratton and Alice as in the right of the said Alice ought to have been thereof seased accordingly And had yssue Thomas Stratton and both died After whose death the right of the same premisses discended and came vnto the said Thomas Stratton the sonne as sonne and heir of the said Thomas Stratton the father and Alice By vertew whereof the said Thomas Stratton the sonne ought thereof to have been seased accordingly And had yssue the said Elizabeth Balles one of your honnors said orators and dyed After whose death the right of the same premisses discended and came vnto the said Elizabeth as daughter and heir of the said Thomas Stratton the sonne By vertew whereof the said Elizabeth ought thereof to have been seased accordingly And took to husband the said Thomas Balles By vertew whereof the said Thomas Balles and Elizabeth as in right of the said Elizabeth ought to have the said premisses But so yt ys that by reason that divers copies of Court Rolls munyments and wrytinges touching the premisses and rightfullye belonging vnto your orators are by casuall meanes comen to the handes of one Henry Meare and Robert Hill they by collor of having thereof have wrongfullye entered into the premisses and deteine and keepe the possession thereof from your said orators. Dated 28 April, 1586.

Bill of complaint of John Stratton the elder of Compton Bassett, co. Wilts, John Stratton the younger, and Edith Phelpes, widow, sworn 10 June, 1594 (or 10 Jan., 1594-5: the date is almost illegible):—Sir James Marvin, Knt., being seized in his demesne as of fee of and in the Manor of Compton Bassett, co. Wilts, did, about the 32nd year of the Queen's reign that now is, in consideration of £10 to him paid by William Stratton, father of the aforesaid John Stratton the elder, grant one mesuage and one yardland and a half unto the said William and John Stratton, to be holden for the term of their two lives successively. In due course William Stratton the father was taken tenant and did his fealty. He afterwards died, and orator was in turn admitted tenant, but was enforced to give for his admittance two third parts of twelve acres of corn which he and his brother John (sic) Stratton had sown, and to enter into bond to keep and sustain two poor children. But now of late one Elizabeth Stratton, widow, and others, pretending title to the said premises, have commenced suit at Common Law against orator for the recovery thereof. Sir James, countenancing this attempt, caused a Court to be holden for the Manor, at which all tenants were enjoined to appear upon pain of 40s. Orator accordingly appeared, leaving in his house only a woman servant, a young child, and one Smith, a tailor. Elizabeth Stratton, acting on the advice of Sir James, took advantage of this opportunity to dispossess orator of his goods and to expell him from his tenement; for her servant, coming to the house, and finding the doors fast shut, thrust at the fore door and desisted not until it was unbolted, when he entered and expelled orator's servant and others being there, and presently delivered the said house and goods to the said Elizabeth Stratton, being near at hand redie to receive the same. Sir James now refuses to restore possession of the tenement.

COURT RECORDS

These two records from Co. Suffolk are of interest as connected with John Stratton of Shotley, Eng., and Salem, Mass. (See p. 77, Vol. I.)

Final Concord made in the King's Court at Westminster, Easter, 3 Charles I. ## PLACES CALLED STRATTON

Among the places of interest now called Stratton (or Stretton) in England may be especially noted the following:

Stratton, Dorsetshire, is a village on the river Frome. Near it are traces of an old Roman road. The church of St. Mary, a stone building in the Perpendicular style, has a fine embattled tower and windows still retaining fragments of ancient stained glass. The register dates from 1561. There is in this parish a farm called Strattonfield. The following are Stratton items from this old register:

- 1600: Johanna Stratton sepulta 21 April
       Thomas Stratton et Christiana Carpenter matrimonio copulabantur 28 Oct.
- 1600-01: Johannes Stratton et Elizabetha Norfolkke matrimonio

Stretton, Staffordshire, is a parish and small village on the river Penk. The church of St. John, originally erected as a chapel of ease to Penkridge, is a small edifice of stone in the Norman and Early English styles, consisting of chancel, nave, transepts, south porch and a western turret containing one bell. The nave is Early English; the chancel Norman, and part of the original structure. The register dates from 1659. Stretton Hall, a fine old mansion built from designs by Inigo Jones, is the seat of the lord of the manor.

Stratton, Wiltshire, takes its name from the old Roman road that runs through the parish. It was originally divided into three tithings, called the Street, the Green, and Upper Stratton. The church, dedicated to St. Margaret, is an ancient edifice of stone, in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles separated from the nave by arcades of four bays, south porch and a western tower. The oldest monumental tablet dates back to 1645; the register to 1608.

Stratton, Gloucestershire, is a parish and village on the river Churn. The church of St. Peter is in the Early English style, and the register dates from 1601. Stratton House in this parish is the residence of the Firebraces.

East Stratton, Hampshire, is a parish and small village eight miles north-east from Winchester. The church of All Saints is of modern erection. The registers, incorporated with those of Micheldever, date from 1540. Stratton House stands in a park of some 300 acres adjoining the village. The mansion is of ancient erection, but has been added to at different dates, and is consequently of mixed architecture. It was formerly a seat of the Russell family, dukes of Bedford, and was once occupied by the Lady Rachell, widow of Lord William Russell, who was beheaded in Lincoln's Inn Fields, 18 July, 1683. About 1825 it was the residence of Sir Thomas Baring, Bart., and later was the seat of the Earl of Northbrook.

Stretton-Baskerville, Warwickshire, in Domesday called

"stratone," is a parish four miles south-east of Nuneaton, on the border of Leicestershire. It takes its name from Watling Street, an old Roman road, which lies on the north side of it, and from the ancient family of Baskerville, by whom it was anciently held. At one time it was a place of some consequence, but in the reign of Henry VII eighty tenants were evicted from some twenty-three cottages, and the church, falling into decay, became "as a shelter for cattle." The site of the ancient village, the church, manor house and pools, may still be traced in what is now called the "Township."

Stratton, Cornwall, is an ancient market town one and a half miles from Bude on the Cornish coast. This "Street-town" was built on the old Roman road between Devon and Cornwall, and a little bit of the old way yet remains in the vicinity. Some one in writing of it says, "Imagine a little town built in a thimble—there you have Stratton. At the bottom runs the river (frequently called the Strat) crossed by a bridge, and so picturesque on either side that you will want a camera or a sketch book at once. From the bridge the steep street rises to the church, perched, as it were, on the thimble's edge, while here a corner, and there a roof forms more pictures as the town goes clustering up the hill. It is this steepness that makes Stratton the dearest, quaintest little town imaginable." Of late years the church has been effectively restored. A figure of St. Andrew, to whom the building is dedicated, occupies the ancient niche. Within the church is beautiful. The Norman font is circular; the pulpit is Jacobean. The altar tomb of Sir John Arundel occupies the south chancel aisle; on its top are fine brasses of the knight and his two wives, with smaller brasses for their twelve children, and armorial bearings.*

In a window of the north aisle lies the battered but very ancient effigy of a knight in chained armor of the thirteenth century. This is supposed to be Sir Ralph de Blanchminister whose name is attached to the Stratton parish charity founded as early as 1249.†

* Sir John was esquire of the body of Henry VIII and was knighted at the Battle of the Spurs. He died in 1561.

† Centuries have elapsed, yet this charity in the hands of trustees has prospered and increased, enabling the present trustees not only to give each year (the Sunday after Christmas) the "dole" in the church, but to assist deserving cases in the parish and to establish scholarships for young people.

Stratton Tower in the Village of Little Berkhamphshire (Hertshire) was built by John Stratton in 1789 at a cost of £3,000. His father (whose residence near The Tower was called "The Gage" and is still known by that name) was a large trader having offices in London and The Tower was built that from it one might get an extensive view over the beautiful surrounding country, watch the shipping on the Thames, and for astronomical purposes.* It proved, however, to be unsafe, and it stands to-day just as it was built more than a century ago, a picturesque landmark known as "Stratton's Folly."

*The property is now owned, and the Gage occupied, by his grandson, Col. J. H. Stratton, with whom the compiler has had some pleasant correspondence and who kindly furnished the photograph of "The Tower."

COLONIAL STRATTONS

"And so it was in the days of old." SHAKESPERE.

THE Strattons traced in this volume are the descendants of the following eleven colonial lines:

CALEB STRATTON,<sup>1</sup> born in England in 1635, came to America about 1660. He married Mary Adams of Boston. His son William settled in Nantucket.

RICHARD STRATTON<sup>1</sup> and JOHN STRATTON<sup>1</sup> (brothers) settled at Easthampton, L. I., about 1650, and were closely connected with the early history of that town. Richard married Elizabeth Edwards. His sons were Richard, Thomas, Isaac and Benjamin. John's sons were John, Joseph, Stephen and Cornelius.

THOMAS STRATTON<sup>1</sup> died before 1632 when his widow, Alice Stratton, was living on the Eastern Shore, Va., where she was granted 200 acres of land. Upon this land the descendants of their son Thomas Stratton, Jr., lived for several generations.

EDWARD STRATTON, in 1674, was living in Bermuda Hundred, Va., where he owned a plantation. His son Edward was born about 1655, whether in England or America we know not.

SAMUEL STRATTON,<sup>1</sup> born in England in 1592, settled in Watertown, Mass., some time before 1647 with wife Alice and sons Samuel, John and Richard.

JOHN STRATTON, in 1667, at the age of twenty-five years, married Mary Smith in Watertown, Mass. Their sons were John, Thomas, James, Jonathan and Samuel.

JOHN STRATTON bought land in Woodbury, Conn., in 1682. His estate was settled there in 1716. His son Thomas settled in Stratford, Conn.

WILLIAM STRATTON married Abigail Moore in Winsor, Conn., in 1705. He was one of the company sent to invade Canada, in the old French War. He died while in the service in 1709. His sons were Scrajah and William.

MARK STRATTON and EMANUEL STRATTON were brothers, of whom the earliest record we have is in 1713 when they were living in Evesham, N. J. The sons of Emanuel were Jacob and Emanuel.

The sons of Mark were David, Daniel, John, Enoch and Isaac.*

Five of the above colonial Strattons are known to have been emigrants—each the first of his line in the New World. Of the other six it can only be said that a most painstaking research has failed to reveal their parentage here. A research in England might find them there.†

Three other Strattons came early to the New World:

JOSEPH STRATTON from Shotley, Eng., was a member of the House of Burgesses at James City, Va., in 1629.

JOHN STRATTON, a nephew of Joseph, was granted 2,000 acres of land along the coast of Maine in 1631, including an island at the mouth of the Saco River which is still known as "Stratton Island."

BARTHOLOMEW STRATTON from Tenterden, Eng., came to America in 1658. He had sons and grandsons living in Boston but no record of them has been found later than 1698.‡

These three emigrants were men of considerable wealth, prominence and standing in those early days. Although the com-

* Daniel and Thomas Stratton of Sussex Co., N. J., in 1779, are supposed to belong to this line, although no actual proof of this connection has yet been found.

† For an extended account of these eleven early Strattons in America, and records of their descendants to the fifth generation, see A Book of Strattons, Vol. I, pp. 92-299.

More than five thousand of their descendants from the fifth generation to the present day are traced in this volume.

‡ See pages 69-91, Vol. I.

Dec. 2, 1696, a William Stratton had a case in court in Boston concerning the brigantine Tryal of which he was master. The case was continued for more than a year (see page 73, Vol. I). The many papers in this and other cases prove that he was a citizen of Boston. In 1691 he was mate of the ship Providence, of London. From 1694 to 1696 he fought a case about his management of the ship Friends' Adventure. June 8, 1696, he was on a jury of inquest in a Maine town about a child found drowned near a wharf. Dec. 18, 1695, he had a judgment in his favor in the suit over the Friends' Adventure. Sept. 5, 1696, he signed a receipt for the cash for his judgment against John Cary of Bristol (now in R. I.). Dec. 2, 1696, he was on trial for bringing the ship Tryal into Boston and refusing to deliver her up to those who claimed her. (Probably a Newcastle, Del., man who had bought the Tryal from the French privateer who seized her in Newfoundland waters.) So many of these papers bear Wm. Stratton's signature, and he is so often called "of Boston," that there seems to be no question of his being Bartholomew's son. The question of great interest is what became of him after 1698 and what became of his sons William<sup>3</sup> and John<sup>3</sup>?

piller has thus far failed to trace any Strattons of the present generation back to them, it is not impossible that this may yet be done through some still undiscovered sources of information.*

* In the course of many years of correspondence with Strattons here and abroad, the compiler has come across several families of Strattons who have come more recently to America—who have not been traced back to colonial days here, though a search in Great Britain might show a kinship between them and the earlier emigrants:

Samuel D. Stratton, Willapa, Wash., is a son of John Stratton of Queens Co., N. B., and grandson of Stephen Stratton born in England in 1794. His eight sons and daughters are living in Washington and Oregon.

A John Stratton, born in Wiltshire, England, in 1811 (son of James, Jr., and Charlotte Stratton), settled in Ontario while a young man. Several of his sons settled in the States.

Thomas C. Stratton, son of George and Charlotte Stratton of Montreal, married Caroline, daughter of Dr. Elbridge Simpson of Ashfield, Mass., and Hudson, N. Y. Their children are:

- a. Albert Elbridge, Mfg. Chemist, Bronxville, N. Y., served 8 yrs. in 7th Regt., N. G., N. Y., m. Clara I. Reynolds; chn. Helen Esther, Elbridge.
- b. May Simpson, m. Asa Wynkoop of Albany; ch. Stratton.
- c. Alice Louise.
- d. Gerald, Lieut. 7th Regt., N. G., N. Y., m. Bertha MacFarlane.
- e. Dorothy Beatrice, m. William Frederick May.
- f. Frank Lawrence, m. Nancy Shaw.

Roland Reed Stratton, Littleton, Colo., is only son of Charles J. Stratton, grandson of William J. Stratton (Co. D. 3rd Wis. Regt.) and great-grandson of James Stratton, b. Feb. 14, 1804, in Wiltshire, Eng.

Joseph Stratton, born in 1804 (in England?), was one of the very early settlers of Fort Wayne, Ind., being there in 1835. Had three sons in U. S. Army. His son, Walter Stratton, is Supt. of Sewers in Milwaukee; his grandson, Walter (son of John), is a civil engineer at Mariette, Wis.

Albert J. Stratton of Seattle is son of Richard Y. Stratton of Ontario, and grandson of William and Hannah (Yates) Stratton of Co. Leitram, Ireland.

In Providence, R. I., are Strattons who are grandchildren of a Thomas Stratton, born in 1803 in Co. Leitram, Ire.

In Hingham, Mass., are Strattons who came from Scotland thirty years ago.

Dr. John Roach Straton, noted Baptist divine of Baltimore, is son of Rev. Henry D. Straton and grandson of David Straton of Bannockburn, Scotland.

STRATTONS OF MASSACHUSETTS
SAMUEL STRATTON OF WATERTOWN

(Chart G, Vol. I)

"I do not object to a wholesome pride in ancestry." LOWELL.

TO the descendants of Samuel Stratton<sup>1</sup> it is interesting to note that "Elmwood," the home of James Russell Lowell in Cambridge, purchased by his father, Rev. Charles Lowell, from the heirs of Lt.-Gov. Oliver, was by him (Oliver) bought from John, Abigail and Eunice, only surviving children and heirs of John Stratton<sup>4</sup> (John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>). From the boundaries of the land and description of the homestead there can be no doubt that this is the land of Samuel Stratton,<sup>1</sup> which, in his will dated 1672, he left to his son, John Stratton,<sup>2</sup> and it is quite probable that "Elmwood" may be the "mansion house" of the early Stratton wills, though much changed, improved and embellished.

Notice also the following. In the courthouse at Cambridge is an original paper (in package under 1649-1652, secondary package marked "miscellaneous") containing these words:

"Let the honored court know that the traine-band of Watertown have chosen Lieutenant Mason to be our Captain and Sergeant Perse to be our Lieutenant, here is also the names of certain men whom upon this occasion have taken the oath of Fidelity." In the list that follows are the names of Samuel Stratton, Sr., Samuel Stratton, Jr., and John Stratton.*

* In the book on Military Watertown this company, or "traine-band," is not mentioned, probably because the compiler did not know of its existence. At the court house the above paper is indexed "List of persons who had taken the oath of fidelity in 1652," and so it is not surprising that the train-band was overlooked.

Dorothy Hubbard in 1737. She was daughter of Daniel and Dorothy (Dakin) Hubbard, born Mar. 24, 1719, and died May 30, 1768. He was a soldier in the French and Indian war in 1758, marching 128 miles to the relief of Ft. Williams, under Ensign Jonathan Brooks.

* On page 171, Vol. I, of "A Book of Strattons" Jonathan,<sup>5</sup> son of Samuel and Sarah (Allen) Stratton, is marked by a note as follows: ("This may be the Jonathan who was killed by a falling tree . . . in 1774.") More recent investigation shows that it was not Jonathan but Lieut. Jonas Stratton<sup>5</sup> (No. 87) who was killed in 1774. That Jonathan<sup>5</sup> of Weston, who married Dinah Bemis Nov. 1, 1738 (p. 200, Vol. I) was son of Samuel and Sarah is now clear. Original deeds show that this Jonathan bought three lots of land in Holden in 1737, '38 and '41. These lots were not far from the land in Rutland bought in 1737 by his father Samuel,<sup>4</sup> where he and Sarah lived to a good old age, honored and respected citizens. Sarah died Mar. 15, 1789, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Watson, aged 99 yrs. 10 mos. and 19 days. Jonathan sold all his holdings in Holden in 1743 and thereafter was identified with Weston for more than half a century. Deeds show, also, that his older brother, Thomas, bought a lot in Rutland, which he sold in 1737. What became of Thomas after this date is not known.

He went to Rutland and there married Mary Eaton, daughter of Samuel Eaton of Sudbury. The "Intention of marriage" was published in Rutland Nov. 15, 1749. He bought a farm in Rutland and built a house, where he lived the remainder of his life. In 1794 he sold the farm to his son Alpheus. He and his sons were among the substantial, respected citizens of the town. He died July 18, 1809. His wife died Jan. 18, 1819, aged 90 years.

68. EBENEZER STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (Hezekiah,<sup>4</sup> Samuel,<sup>3</sup> Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>) was born in Northfield, Mass., Dec. 1, 1718. He was a soldier in King George's war, and in 1749 was Captain in charge of Fort Colevain. He served in the French and Indian war, where he did good service in Col. William Williams' regiment in 1758. He married Tamer Allen, June, 1752. He was selectman in Northfield in 1769. His wife died July 23, 1797. He died Nov. 29, 1801. 69. Ensign SAMUEL STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (Hezekiah,<sup>4</sup> Samuel,<sup>3</sup> Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>) was born in Northfield Feb. 8, 1720. He served his country in the French and Indian war, and was known as Ensign Samuel Stratton. He settled in Vernon, Vt., where he bought a large tract of land which was occupied by himself and his descendants for six generations. The earliest deed to land in that section was made to Ensign Stratton in 1749, "in His Majesty's Reign, King George II." "As an intrepid and courageous man Ensign Stratton was well calculated to cope with the hardships and dangers incident to a pioneer's life." He married Ruth Wright, daughter of Benoni Wright. She died in Vernon, Dec. 16, 1800, aged 61 years. He died in 1803. Both are buried in Whithed burial ground, at Vernon. A collection of thirty-five "Deeds of Land" to him, amounting to nearly 2,000 acres, are in possession of his descendants. An oil portrait, taken in his advanced years, is an heirloom treasured by the family. (See Frontispiece.*)

Stratton, Lieut. Asa Stratton appear again and again in the history of these troublous times. They were among the true heroes of the day and their brave conduct did much to keep up the spirits of the garrison at Northfield, to inspire confidence and give a sense of safety. They were among the first to offer their services in every perilous undertaking.

* Permission to reproduce this portrait for A Book of Strattons was kindly given the author by Mr. Frank W. Cone of Boston, a descendant of Ensign Stratton.

With his father and brother he served in the French and Indian war. He married Lydia Allen, daughter of Caleb Allen, granddaughter of Edward Allen, who was one of the founders of Suffield, Conn. They lived for a short while at Endfield, Conn., and then returned to Northfield. She died Apr. 13, 1783, aged 56 years, and he died six years later, Sept. 24, 1789.

* Prior to 1780 the little church at Cambridge Village, or "Little Cambridge" (later known as Third Church), was supplied by ministers from Cambridge, Watertown, Boston and other towns. These ministers usually recorded the baptisms in their own books, hence we find the baptisms of John Stratton's children on the books of these towns, although he lived all the time in Cambridge Village. Nathaniel Champney, son of Solomon, came to live with John Stratton when he was seven years old and became as a son to the family.

116. ELIAS STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (Jabez,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>) was born in Watertown, Mass., Oct. 22, 1730. The early records of Athol were destroyed by fire. In Sherborn, in 1761, he was a "house wright." He married, second, Mar. 25, 1796, widow Joanna Brooks. family continued to live in Natick for about forty years, respected, well-to-do people, owning three tracts of land.

This "warning out" was simply a legal notice that they had recently come into the town and not yet been officially recognized as citizens.

Samuel Stratton<sup>4</sup> (No. 46, Vol. I) of Watertown was a miller and in 1759 he bought "37 acres and a grist mill" in Natick. To the compiler there seems no reason to doubt that the Samuel Stratton who settled in Natick four years later was his son, born in Watertown June 29, 1739.

There was, however, another Samuel Stratton at this time whom the compiler has not been able to place, even after years of research. Perhaps some reader can give some clew to his parentage.

He was in Brookfield in 1769 and there married Sarah Parker Nov. 30, 1769. To them were born in Brookfield, Aug. 28, 1770, twins, Sallie, who m. John Reese in 1763, and Samuel, Jr. This Samuel, Jr., married in Worcester, Jan. 1, 1799, Betsey Smith, and settled in Craftsbury, Vt., the same year. The house which he built about 1806 is still standing in a good state of preservation. He was a well-to-do farmer. After the death of his wife (April 16, 1841, aged 61 years) he married Martha Harrington. He died Oct. 28, 1857. Following are his descendants, some of whom are still living in Craftsbury. His gravestone gives dates of birth and death. Children:

Then, the compiler has also the following records from an old family Bible of a Samuel Stratton who was born Dec. 10, 1769—no place given. There is a tradition among his descendants that he was the son of a Samuel Stratton who was killed at the Battle of Bunker Hill. Apr. 1, 1759, he enlisted in the French and Indian war, serving 37 weeks. Enlisted again in 1760 and for his service in this year he was to receive £11 19s, but he died before the amount was paid. He was about thirty-eight years old in 1779. Also, in the administration in 1770 of the estate of Jabez,<sup>4</sup> who died in Lincoln about 1745 (see p. 181, Vol. I), "Isaac and Jabez now living in Princeton and John Jones of Concord" were bound to care for the widow, Margaret Stratton (widow of Jabez<sup>4</sup>).

147. HEZEKIAH STRATTON<sup>6</sup> (Hezekiah,<sup>5</sup> Samuel,<sup>4</sup> Samuel,<sup>3</sup> Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>) went to Maine where, in 1768, he began clearing a farm in the primeval forest on the banks of the Sebasicook, near a small settlement called Kingsfield, made four years earlier on the Kenebeck. Three years later this settlement was incorporated and named Winslow in honor of Gen. John Winslow. Here besides being a farmer Hezekiah was a hunter and trapper, as were nearly all the early Maine settlers. When Arnold in the fall of 1775, with his one thousand picked men from the army at Cambridge, marched on his expedition against Quebec, he passed through Fort Weston (now Augusta), stopping a day or two to organize for the trip. Here several Winslow men were taken along as guides and helpers. Among these was Hezekiah Stratton. Hezekiah's farm was about sixteen miles north of Fort Western and the expedition passed his home on its way up the river.

July 8, 1776, the town of Winslow called a town meeting at which was appointed a "Committee of Safety." It also voted to

Samuel & Ruth once happy were
 In Him their only Son & Heir
 In January e'er the Sun
 Had eight & Twenty Circuits run
 In Seventeen Hundred Fifty Six
 With mortals here on earth to mix
 He first begun, but lost his life
 In seventeen hundred eighty five
 The first of June as on his Tour
 Where Walpole Rapids foam & roar
 He to a Rock went down too nigh
 To pierce the Salmon passing by The Rock's Smooth Glossy Sloping Side
 His feet betray'd and let him slide
 Plump down into a watry tomb
 No more to see his native Home
 His tender Parents lovely Spouse
 Or those bright beauties of his House
 Three little hapless female Heirs
 Alas who can their loss repair
 Or ease the Widows Soul of Care
 Or furnish adequate Relief
 To cure the Parents pungent Grief
 Father of Mercies hear our call Extend thy Pity to them all
 Let momentary Ills like this Issue in everlasting bliss.

231. JOEL STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (Ichabod,<sup>5</sup> Ichabod,<sup>4</sup> Richard,<sup>3</sup> Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Samuel<sup>1</sup>) was a soldier in the Revolution at the age of 19, in Capt. Tim Page's Co., Col. James Convers's Regt. The company arrived at Bennington, Vt., Aug. 17, 1777, the day after the battle.* Joel, when the company was discharged, after several months of good service, remained in Vermont. Sept. 25, 1782, he married Rhoda Beeman, who was born in Kent, Conn., and was a daughter of Joseph Beeman<sup>3</sup> (Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Simon<sup>1</sup>). He brought his bride on horseback to the log house he had previously built for her. In this log house, more than 130 years ago, they began housekeeping, with "one pewter spoon, and one pewter basin, as the sole contents of their china closet." It was not long before they had a larger house well furnished for that time and place, and here they lived to a good old age. This farm is still in possession of his descendants, and they are among the thrifty, prosperous, well-to-do people of that section. Mrs. Stratton died Oct. 15, 1836, and Mr. Stratton eleven years later, Jan. 7, 1847.

* His descendants still have a bell which came into his possession that day. It was taken from one of the cows which were being driven over the country by Burgoyne's army to furnish milk for the officers' table. He brought it into the village and it was used to assist in the noise-making in the celebration of the victory.

† The compiler has been unable to find the descendants of Joel Stratton.<sup>7</sup> Although he died in his native town, he is said to have lived most of his married life in the northern part of the state—perhaps at Fairfax, Vt.

 Died March 9, 1827
 aged 61 years
 Death is a debt to nature due
 Which I have paid and so must you.

His homestead in West Swanzey, long known as the "Old Mansion" and still called the Stratton Place' was built about the time of his marriage. It is one of the fine old historic places of the town, though it has been considerably remodeled, first by his son John Stratton, and then by George E. Whitcome, the present owner.

* He was baptised "Richard Coolidge," but seems never to have used the middle name. Mr. Benjamin Read, the historian of Swanzey, makes him a son of Nathaniel Stratton. Mr. Read got his information from the older Swanzey Strattons, and they gave it from memory. The error probably arose from the fact that Richard, while a young man, received a legacy from his maternal grandfather, Nathaniel Coolidge, and so the name Nathaniel was remembered by his descendants, who came to believe that it was his father's name. An "intention of marriage" of Richard Stratton of Swanzey and Polly Eustis was "published" in Newton, Mass., Oct. 2, 1790. Two years later she married Oliver Fuller of Newton.

He was a Revolutionary soldier from 1776 to 1780; first as sergeant, then lieutenant, then captain. His will, made Feb. 28, 1825, was proved June 29, 1830. He died May 1, 1830.

Morse's Co. on the alarm on the morning of Apr. 19, 1775, and later was at Horse Neck, under command of Col. Brooks. He married, first, Susannah Morse, May 9, 1773. In 1774 he sold his part of his father's estate to his brother Abijah for £78-16-8, and bought land in Sherborn. He married, second, Sarah Bullard, who survived him. There is a monument to his memory in South Natick cemetery.

* Though he never worked at the Clothiers' trade, his knowledge of it stood him in good stead. In the early days at Oxford, Mrs. Stratton spun and wove the cloth for her large family. In coloring the wool her husband was a great help, and his receipts for coloring were kept among his valuable papers. Her flax and wool wheels are still among the treasures at the old homestead.

† Mary Pendleton was a daughter of Benajah Pendleton and a granddaughter of Caleb Pendleton, Jr. The Pendletons came from Connecticut to New York State.

This Stratton-Frink marriage was probably recorded at Pittsfield, a little village near New Berlin, N. Y. The records of that village were burned years ago. A granddaughter still well remembers seeing the marriage record in the old family Bible, in John Stratton's handwriting, and that the name was there spelled "Charlotty Frink." The Bible is still treasured, containing the records of birth of John Stratton, his wife and all his children, but the leaf which contained the marriage record is lost.

old overshot mill wheel may still be seen there.* The house has passed away, only the old chimney remaining to mark its location. He also bought a farm five miles south of Oxford, which is still owned and occupied by his descendants. On this farm he spent the remainder of his life. He was one of the Commissioners in the bridge scheme in 1823.† His sons, as they married, settled on the home farm, or on farms near by, and were among the leading agriculturists of Chenango Co., as are some of his grandsons to-day. He died Jan. 28, 1842. Mrs. Stratton died Mar. 27, 1875.

* At this mill, operated for many years by him and his sons, most of the building material used in the lower part of the town of Oxford was sawn by the "up-and-down saw" of that period. An old account book of John Stratton's, still in existence, shows bills of lumber (expressed in £ s. d.) for the years 1811 and 1812, and names many of the old settlers as his customers.

Some records have it that he came first to Oxford, then went to Binghamton about 1809, and returned to Oxford about 1813. Later he built many mill wheels in that section, often being away from home working at this trade. As his sons, John and George, became old enough to help they went with him and so became wheelwrights, learning the trade of their father.

† The inhabitants of the surrounding towns were invited to a "River Bridge Bee" to help in drawing stone and building the bridge across the Chenango River at Oxford. "The day was stormy, Friday, Feb. 28, 1823, but men and teams came from far and near, and each one who assisted in the work was given a ticket marked "Barbecue." Potatoes, bread and beef in large quantities were provided." This was an early "good roads" movement!

For some years he was proprietor of the "Stratton Tavern," in Waltham (see picture).* He was also "expressman" for several

This was a popular tavern for many years, at the corner of Stow and Weston streets. It was owned and occupied by Isaac Bemis in 1798, and was kept by him for a long time. John Ball is supposed to have occupied the stand previous to him. Simon Stratton followed Bemis, and was its last landlord. It was then owned by Dr. Spring. The building stood for many years, though not occupied as a public house, a well-known landmark, an object of interest and curiosity, a fair example of the ancient Inn. It was burned to the ground Feb. 11, 1893.

large woolen mills, a business in which he employed many teams. When the Boston & Worcester R. R. was built a branch road was run to the mills, and this ended Simon's express enterprise. However, he had saved up considerable money, and in 1843 he gave up the hotel business and removed to Evanston, Ill., where he bought 500 acres of land and engaged in farming. His removal was characteristic of the man, and his way of doing things. He left Waltham for his new home with his family and household goods in several wagons each drawn by four fine horses.

B., who belonged to an old Scotch family. As early as 1820 he was proprietor of a hotel, "The Golden Bee," in St. Johns. Seven years later he went to Chester, Me., where he was one of the early settlers, going into an unbroken forest and making a large farm there. In 1851 he built a hotel in Winn, Me., which he sold in 1864, and retired from business. Later he returned to Chester where he died Sept. 29, 1883. He was in the war of 1812 and drew a pension for many years. His sons became prosperous men and his daughters married into some of the best families in that part of the state. His old homestead in Chester is still standing. He is described by one who remembers him as a "fine, noble looking old man, honest and upright, fearing no one except his God. He read his Bible every day, and went quietly to sleep of old age."

in the forest on the Penobscot River. Not being able to get money for his work, he took a lot of wild land, near the present town of Chester, Me. On this he made a clearing and built a house, then returned to his native town and married Lydia L. Coombs. Together they made themselves a home in the almost unbroken forest, on the banks of the grand old Penobscot, enduring toil and privations and hardships. There were few settlers between their home and Bangor, a distance of 60 miles, and supplies were brought up the river in a bateau. In March, 1846, the freshet known as "the great ice freshet" destroyed much property along the river, and took away their house and barn. The family escaped in a boat. With indomitable courage they made another start, selecting higher ground for a building spot. Loved and respected by all, they lived to see the wild land converted into farms and settlements, and villages grew up around them, the steamboat running daily on the river and railroad trains passing in sight of their home.

* Of their twin sons, Charles Stratton Juliand resides in Greene, N. Y. Albert Stratton Juliand died Sept. 12, 1898, after a bright and happy life of twenty years,—a noble, Christian young man.

Mr. Juliand is descended from Joseph Juliand, sea-captain, who was born in Lyons, France, in 1749 and settled in Green, N. Y., which was first a settlement of French Huguenots.

† An old gentleman who remembers this part of Chenango County forty-five years ago writes the author: "It was a delight to an observing man to pass through the Stratton neighborhood, to see the well kept farms, buildings and yards, the signs of industry and thrift on every hand. They were exemplary men, sturdy in a high degree, physically, mentally, morally."

he married Hannah Duncan Wilcox, a sister of his brother Albert's wife. She was born Jan. 19, 1821, and died Jan. 4, 1904. Mr. Stratton died Jan. 2, 1886. Genial, pleasant and helpful, he was a great favorite, especially with the children of the family.

*"She was a noble Christian woman, who fought life's trials bravely for herself and her family, and was always ready to lend a helping hand to any in sickness or need. She was a daughter of Deacon John and Lucia (Cheesbrough) Symonds, who were among the very early settlers in the Chenango Valley. They traveled by ox-team from Connecticut, bringing all their worldly goods in a large red chest which served them for some time as a table. He was a deeply religious man, and because of his strict Presbyterian training refused to travel on the Sabbath Day, and so he and his family were left behind by the rest of the party, arriving two days later, but in a better condition to begin the new life in the wilderness after the long, tiresome journey."

How well he succeeded is proven by the pleasant home which he built in Richland, Mich., where he settled in the fall of 1851,—the beautiful, well cultivated farm and the large, comfortable dwelling house, and especially by the good home training, education and substantial help which he gave his children. Me. Vols. and served until the end of the war. Was at Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Hatcher's Run, and other engagements, and was wounded three times. At Gettysburg, the "Fighting Sixteenth" was ordered "to hold that position at any cost until we get the guns placed." They did it, but when roll call came but about forty men answered to it. Mr. Stratton was wounded and left in the church at Gettysburg when the place was evacuated by the Confederates. In 1867 he married Ella Hines, to whom the compiler is indebted for many records of New England Strattons. They lived at the old home farm at Washburn until 1891, then removed to Massachusetts, living at Medway, then Holliston, then Hopkinton.

For several years he was a regular contributor to a number of the leading magazines. The stories of western life from his versatile pen are delightfully written, for he was a sympathetic observer who saw the best in every situation, as well as the more humorous, and knew how to give interest and action to the scenes which he depicted. Several of his stories are of the pathetic sort which makes the reader kinder and better for the reading of them. His first stories are written under the name of "Frank Nelson." In 1888 he married Otelle Shellsmith. He died Feb. 15, 1905. He was a prominent member of the Red Men, Odd Fellows, Woodmen, Pathfinders, and Ben Hur lodges, and was very popular among all classes in his own city. From a child he showed great musical ability, and at nine years of age played the clarinet at concerts in several New England towns. At twenty-one he was a teacher of music—on several different instruments. In 1860 he opened a store in Boston for the sale of musical instruments. About this time he composed and published the operetta "Laila," which was received with great favor all over the country, and which all through his life brought in a very good revenue, his widow still receiving something every year from the sale of the books. This was followed by other musical compositions, all of which were popular for a time. In 1862 he married Lucy Ladd, daughter of Hiram and Aurelia (Palmer) Ladd, of a well known New Hampshire family. In 1871, taking his wife and household goods, he went to Leipsic, Saxony, to assist his brother, John F. Stratton, who had there established a musical instrument factory. Keeping his store in Boston, and his interest in the business in Leipsic, importing all kinds of musical instruments from foreign manufactories, Mr. Stratton crossed the ocean thirty-five times. About 1895, his health failing, he sold out his business and spent most of his time abroad. He died, suddenly, in Berlin, Germany, October 14, 1901.* Ambitious, studious, and passionately fond of music, even as a boy, he longed for opportunities for study which his native town did not afford, and he was heard to say that if ever he was able to give West Swanzey a library he would do it, that other boys might have advantages which were denied him. In 1880 he began making plans to carry out this long-cherished project. In 1885 the finished library building, well stocked with books and pictures, was given to the town—"Stratton Free Library and Art Gallery."

CALEB STRATTON OF BOSTON

(Chart B, Vol. I)

*" 'Tis sweet to remember. I would not forego
The charm which the past o'er the present can throw."*

CLARK.

IN the early days of the Revolution the whale fisheries along the Atlantic were broken up by the English Marines. About 1783 a considerable number of the inhabitants of Nantucket determined to leave the island and make a settlement somewhere upon the Hudson. An association was formed by those concerned in whaling and navigation. Many of these were Quakers. Among them were several Nantucket Strattons.* They were joined by Friends from Providence and other points. The largest settlements were made at Hudson and Nine Partners. The

*It will be remembered that Caleb Stratton of Nantucket had eight sons (see Vol. I, p. 95-96), all of whom grew to manhood in their island home. At least five of these sons had children, yet no Strattons were living in Nantucket a generation later. The census of 1810 gives but one person by the name of Stratton. This was Abigail, widow of Christopher Stratton. The children had all left their native island and only a few have been definitely located elsewhere.

Since Vol. I was published it has been found that Philip Stratton (No. 23, Chart B) died in Providence, R. L., in 1791. The published index to wills at Providence says that he left a will, Docket A. 1364. The will itself the compiler has been unable to find. His widow, Lucretia, married Francis Gardner in Providence, May 14, 1800. Perhaps the Phæbe Stratton who married Merrick Chamberlain in Providence, January 14, 1787, was his daughter.

Although Folgar, the Nantucket historian, says that Anthony, Caleb and Philip left no descendants, this may not be true of any of them. Folgar based his opinion mainly upon Friends' Records. As several of the Strattons had been "disowned" for marrying outside of the society, or had withdrawn from the Friends' Society, the births of their children would not be found on the Friends' Records.

At Darmouth, Mass., the compiler found the records of the birth of these two children of Odar Stratton:

Judith, b. July 1757.

Lois, b. Aug. 1763.

latter was on a grant given to nine men long before the Revolution.

FIFTH GENERATION

28. BENJAMIN STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (Benjamin,<sup>4</sup> Caleb,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> Caleb<sup>1</sup>) was born in Nantucket August 8, 1764. He was but eleven years old when his father removed to New Partners, N. Y. By his father's will he was given lands in Nantucket, but he never returned there to live. Before 1800 he married Anne—and lived for awhile in New York, then removed to Philadelphia, where he died July 7th, 1820.* He is probably the Benjamin Stratton, block maker, whose name appears in the Philadelphia Directory for 1806 to 1820.†

Children:

—37 Enos Alley,<sup>6</sup> b. Sept. 27, 1802; d. July 21, 1803.

Also at the same place are the following records:

Hannah, d. of the late Wm. Stratton, married Aug. 28, 1740, Joshua Sherman, son of Timothy and Deborah Sherman.

William Stratton of Sherborn married Deborah Sherman of Dartmouth, Dec. 22, 1790.

There was a John Stratton, Jr., of Warwick and Exeter, R. I., who served in the War of 1812—was Lieut. in 1819, Capt. in 1821, Colonel in 1822. He m. 1st Phœbe Clemmons in 1816, and 2nd Eunice (Lewis) Arnold in 1822. After 1827 he settled in New York State. He had by 1st marriage George Alford, b. May 28, 1819, who m. a Miss White and moved to Wisconsin; John Clemmons, who m. Elizabeth Matterson. By 2nd marriage, Wm. Dexter, b. July 8, 1824, who m. Almira Wilcox and has a son, Arthur Yale Stratton, living at Tyner (or Oxford, R. F. D.), N. Y.; Thomas Jones, b. June 4, 1827, m. Ruth I. Moore, and their daughter, Sarah De Etta Stratton, m. Bert E. Pudney and lives at Sidney, N. Y. Information leading to the ancestry of these Strattons is very much desired.

* His removal, with his wife and five children, is recorded on the "Monthly Meeting Records" at New York, Nov. 1, 1815.

† A Block Maker was one who made one or more pulleys mounted in a shell of wood called a block. It is a hoisting tackle, and when Nantucket was a whaling port the making of "Blocks" for use on ship board was an important and lucrative trade. The best blocks were made of oak, the wheels of Lignum Vita. To-day many blocks are made of steel.

The Philadelphia Directories from 1804 to about 1816 give Joseph Stratton, Robert Stratton, George Stratton, and John Stratton, whom the compiler has not yet been able to place satisfactorily. These last two were ship masters, and lived in that part of the city known as Northern Liberties.

- 39 Joseph.<sup>6</sup>
- 40 Eliza Ann,<sup>6</sup> m. — Gager.
- 41 Benjamin.<sup>6</sup> Perhaps this is the Benjamin Stratton who died in Philadelphia Aug. 8, 1882, aged 77 years.*

In 1818 his name appears as foreman of a fire company in New York. Later in the same year he removed to Troy, and became a foundryman, conducting the "Stratton Foundry" there. The family story is that he cast the first plowshare and the first air-tight stove cast in this country. Latham and Phœbe were life long members of the Society of Friends. Phœbe was born Nov. 1, 1780, and died Dec. 31, 1829. A year later Latham married Eunice Hanks, of Washington Co., N. Y. He died in Troy March 4th, 1849,—a man of sterling integrity, and greatly respected.†

Children:—Born in New York City.

*The author would be greatly pleased to get into communication with any one having further knowledge of the family of Benjamin Stratton<sup>5</sup>.

†Hidden away in a closet in the old Quaker church in New York, 144 East 20th Street, was recently found a record of the names of the members of the Preparative meeting of New York for five of six years beginning with 1801. On this list are thirteen Strattons—Benjamin Stratton and his daughter Elizabeth, his sons Benjamin and Latham, and their children.

For this list, giving the correct list of births, as well as for the portrait and autograph of Latham Stratton, the Author is indebted to Robert Macy Stratton of New York, who has in his possession the old family Bible of Latham Stratton.

—48 Phœbe Ann,<sup>6</sup> b. Jan. 4, 1817; d. unmarried in Troy, N. Y., Nov. 13, 1831.

All the above children were named in the will of their aunt Elizabeth Stratton (No. 27, Chart B).

36. WILLIAM STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (Benjamin,<sup>5</sup> Benjamin,<sup>4</sup> Caleb,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> Caleb<sup>1</sup>) was born "21 day of 12 m. 1800." In 1807 his parents removed from New York to Philadelphia. In 1856 he was living in Frankfort, a suburb of Philadelphia, where he kept a boot and shoe store. At that time he owned a watch, formerly his father's, on the dial of which were the twelve letters Benj. Stratton instead of figures to indicate the hours. He died about 1857 or '58.

Child:

—49 William,<sup>7</sup> m. Eliza—and soon after his father's death removed from Philadelphia to Washington, D. C., where he opened a school for young ladies. Later information concerning him is desired.

If William Stratton <sup>6</sup> had other children the compiler would be glad to learn of them.

44. ROBERT MACY STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (Latham,<sup>5</sup> Benjamin,<sup>4</sup> Caleb,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> Caleb<sup>1</sup>) was born in New York City May 23, 1803. For many years he was the financial partner of a large iron foundry and machine shops, "The Novelty Iron Works," builders of steam engines and other machinery, perhaps the largest works of its kind in the country at that time. They employed many men. The foundry, machine shops and wharfs covered five acres at the foot of 12th Street on East River. He was a birthright Quaker, was disowned for marrying outside the Society, but later rejoined the Friends and became a recommended minister of the Friends' Society in which position he remained until his death.

June 23, he married Jane Wilson. She was born Apr. 13, 1805, and died Aug. 11, 1856. Oct. 6, 1859, he married Louise C. Macy of Nantucket. He died Apr. 10, 1871, in New York.*

* He was an expert accountant. From 1813 to the time of his death he was a Trustee of the Bowery Savings Bank, and from 1850 to 1861 Vice President of the same bank. He was a member of the Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, and of the American Institute, and from

45. NATHANIEL MEAD STRATTON, Lieut. Benjamin's Child. — William's 4th son, was born Feb. 20, 1807. He was a foundryman in New York City. With his brother, Robert May Stratton, he was long connected with the Novelty Iron Works. As foreman of the factory he was greatly loved by the 200 or 300 men working under him. Kind hearted and generous, he was always looking out for their welfare, caring for them in sickness and visiting them in their trouble. Hence they were strongly attached to him, responding promptly and cheerfully to any order from him. When some piece of work was a "hurry job" he had but to give the word and the men responded quickly, doing their very best for him. He was a kind-right friend, but in early married life, being very fond of music, he learned to play the flute, which was against the principles of the Friends' meetings. He was waited upon by a committee and given his choice of giving up the flute or being "read out of meeting." He chose the latter. Later he became an Episcopalian, and was a Vestryman for twenty-one consecutive years in All Saints Church on Henry Street, New York. He married Mary Oatman in Troy, Oct. 6, 1830. She was a daughter of Daniel and Parmelia Oat-

Five years later his father moved to Troy, where as a boy Alexander worked in the "Stratton Foundry," early learning the trade of his father and elder brother. As a young man he was connected for several years with the Novelty Iron Works, in New York City, as Superintendent. For about five years prior to his death he was purser on the Collins Line Steamer Pacific, running between New York and Liverpool. He resigned this position just before the Pacific made its last voyage. The steamer was lost and all on board. He married, Oct. 23, 1833, Angeline M. Prescott, daughter of Charles B. and Henrietta (Bleekingh) Prescott, of Troy. She was born in Troy, Feb. 21, 1818, and died in Morrisania, Mar. 31, 1861. Her mother was a native of Amsterdam, Holland. Alexander M. Stratton was a consistent member of the Friends' Society all his life. He died in his home in Morrisania Dec. 15, 1854, aged only 41 years.

For about twelve years after their marriage they lived in Hudson, and then moved to Oxford, N. Y., where he bought a farm. Rebecca died Feb. 1, 1832, and Seth married Betsey Suley, Feb. 24, 1833, who survived him. He died in May, 1856. A tombstone stands to his memory in the burial ground at Oxford.

*These dates are from the old family Bible of Seth Stratton, which is now in possession of one of his descendants. The compiler has found no clew as to which of the sons of Caleb Stratton was the father of Seth. Rebecca was probably the daughter of Capt. Elisha and Ruth Gardner, who moved to Oxford from Hudson, where he died Feb. 18, 1825, aged 80 years. There is a tombstone at his grave in Oxford.

He learned the hatters trade, and had a shop in Oxford and later in Addison, N. Y. Lived for a while at Bath, N. Y. Oct. 3, 1832, he married Clarissa Bemis, from Connecticut. He had become acquainted with her while she was on a visit to Oxford, and they were married at the home of her parents, Amariah and Sally (Shumway) Bemis, of Stratford, Conn. In 1849 they moved to Wantoma, Wisconsin, a new town, of which he became the first Town Clerk. He bought a tract of land there and spent the rest of his life as a farmer. He was a Universalist. Of him a granddaughter writes: "He was a strong advocate of temperance, a total abstainer, never used tobacco in any form, was very dignified and though rather peculiar in his ways was greatly respected." Both Mr. and Mrs. Stratton lived to be over 90 years of age, retaining to a remarkable degree the full possession of memory, intellect, and physical powers to the end of their long lives.

* That William Stratton, the Quaker sea-captain, was of the Nantucket line there can be no doubt. Undoubtedly he was a grandson of Caleb Stratton<sup>3</sup>. Although actual proof of this has not been found, the compiler assumes this to have been his ancestry.

It is now known that James Latham Stratton (Vol I, p. 233, footnote) was William's nephew. Robert Stratton, who died in Baltimore in 1836, was probably another nephew—or possibly a younger brother.

Was this the Robert Stratton of Baltimore who left five children, Charlotte m. a Mr. Moore, Mary Ann, Robert, Jr., Thomas and Edward? What became of these three sons?

ful duties as a pastor, during which time he had preached nearly 5,000 times. In 1866 he moved to Warren, Ohio. Though he retired from active service, he continued to preach occasionally to within a few weeks of his death, which occurred at Warren, Jan. 27, 1884. He was a splendid example of a "self-educated man." His father died when he was only four years old and, as the son of a widow (left a widow a second time when he was still a boy), he had his own way to make in the world, helping at the same time to support his mother. He early evinced a love of study and determined to get an education. He succeeded so well, mainly through his own efforts, that for years he was considered the best linguist in the Presbytery with which he was connected. He was a profound Latin, Greek and Hebrew scholar, an indefatigable student. He studied French after he was sixty years old and read books in that language with ease and pleasure. He considered himself deficient in mathematics, of which he was not fond, but continued his study in this branch of learning to his last illness. His last work, the solving of some difficult problems in geometry, was found in his room after his death, having been performed Wednesday evening, and he passed away Sunday evening. His death came as the result of a cold contracted during a long sleigh ride to the home of a former parishioner. In Canfield, in 1832, he married Anna M. Whittlesey, daughter of Hon. Elisha Whittlesey, associated with so many public affairs, and Comptroller of the U. S. Treasury from 1849 to his death in 1860.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton celebrated their golden wedding in Warren in 1882. She was born Nov. 7, 1812, and died Aug. 13, 1897.

He held pastorates in North Benton, Huntsburg and Cadiz, O.; in Kansas and in Seattle and Spokane, Wash., and for several years was Synodical Missionary in Oregon. He moved from Ohio to Kansas in 1870, and from Kansas to Oregon in 1875. At Spokane he secured property from the government which is now known as the "Stratton Addition." ## JOHN STRATTON OF WATERTOWN

(Chart II, Vol. I)

"Honor thy father and thy mother." EXODUS xx, 12.

RECENT research has brought to light, from the Cambridge court files, two papers which will be of much interest to all descendants of Thomas Stratton<sup>2</sup> (John<sup>1</sup>) of Watertown and Waltham (see Vol. I, p. 185). The first of these is dated Charlestown, Apr. 15, 1690, and reads as follows:

"To the Hon County Court
sitting in Camb.

We whose names are underwritten Listed in the service of the country against the French, being ordered down to Charlestown by our Commander Capt. Nathaniel Wade do testify, that being denyed Quarters elsewhere in said Town this last night, the Widow Mary Peachie did readily Entertain us with very good usage, and with great care that no disorders might be committed.

We therefore Humbly pray that the Hon Court will please to grant her Liberty to renew her License for the year ensuing, & that you will confirm the same to her, wherein you will greatly oblige, Yo's & the countryes Humble Servts."

To this is attached the signatures of twenty men of the Company, and among them is that of Thomas Stratton.*

---

*The other signatures to this petition are Nathaniel Barsham, Lieut. William Devenport, Sergeant Samuel Barnard, Corporal Richard Mellins, John Applin, John Fish, Peter Munsell, John Smith, John Stratin (Stratton?), Henry Spring, John Fay, Thomas Wilson, Nathaniel Wood, Solomon Roy, Corp. Stevens, John Frary, Josiah Jones, Joseph Garfield, James Ball,—and all are autographs, some in old "court hand," and some "chancery script," and some in plain "running hand." The petition itself is written in the beautiful "copper plate" penmanship of Capt. Lawrence Hammond, Recorder at Charlestown.

The widow Peachie was Mary Robinson when she married Thomas

The second paper, dated Sept. 28, 1738, is as follows:

"Thomas Stratton of Waltham, Husbandman, for divers good causes me moving and £3 sold to my son James at a place called Pequoid all rights the General Court may grant for the expedition of 1690, I being a soldier in the aforesaid expedition in a company that was under Major Waldo's command."*

Here is satisfying proof of the colonial war service of Thomas Stratton.<sup>2</sup> It will be remembered that James Stratton,<sup>3</sup> son of Thomas,<sup>2</sup> settled in Pequoid (later Athol) in 1736, on one of the sixty lots granted the proprietors (Vol. I, p. 189).

As no record of the death of Thomas, or his wife Dorcas, is found in Watertown (or Waltham) it is quite probable that they followed their elder son James to Athol and died there. The records of the first fifteen years of that town were destroyed by fire.

FIFTH GENERATION

His youth was spent in those stirring days just before the Revolution, and he lacked none of the patriotic spirit which actuated so many young men of his native town. On the morning of April 19, 1775, with other "minute men," he responded to the call of his country and marched to Lexington in Col. Doolittle's Reg't, serving five days. At the end of this service he enlisted in the company just organized by Capt. Ichabod Dexter in Col. Woodbridge's Regt., and served three months and fourteen days. Aug. 21, 1777, he again enlisted, this time in Capt. Thomas Lord's Peachie of Charleston in 1665. He died in 1683. His widow kept a house of entertainment from the year of his death until she died, ten months after this petition was signed.

* This was the expedition against Canada from which so many never returned. Two of the transports carrying soldiers back from Quebec were lost, many men were killed and many more died of wounds. The general court passed an order that the wives and heirs might draw the pay due these soldiers without administration of their estates. Thus many of the estates fail to show in the probate court files, and doubtless many "disappearances" about this time are due to this expedition and the above order.

Company, Col. Nathan Sparhawk's Regt., and in five days' march reached Bennington, 96 miles away. In 1778 he served in Capt. Josiah Wilder's Co. at Rutland Barracks under command of Maj. Daniel Clapp.

Jan. 9, 1780, he married in Winchenden, Jerusha Bradish, daughter of Jonas and Jerusha (Morton) Bradish. She was born July 20, 1759.* Their home on "The Street," in Athol was a part of the original Stratton Grant. Here they lived for nearly thirty years.

In 1815, Mr. Stratton visited his son in Western New York, making the trip alone on horseback, part of the way along an Indian trail, and covering the distance of more than three hundred miles in seven days. Returning to Athol, he disposed of his farm and business there, and with his wife and daughter Meribah moved to Concord, N. Y., where they lived for six years. The remainder of their lives was spent in the home of their son James in Little Valley, N. Y. Here Mrs. Stratton died Dec. 27, 1840. Her husband survived her nearly two years, dying Aug. 18, 1842. Both are buried in the Annis graveyard, where stones stand to their memory.

Mr. Stratton was a man a little below medium height, with a noticeably high, broad forehead and pleasant blue eyes. He possessed a genial, cheerful disposition, which he retained to the end of his long life of 89 years. In later life he spent much time reading. Among his favorite books were those of a religious nature, and he was a diligent Bible student, his well thumbed Bible being yet in the hands of his descendants.

Mrs. Stratton was a woman of strong convictions, of more than ordinary intelligence and strength of character.† Their home * Jonas Bradish, born in Marlboro Aug. 7, 1724, was son of James and Damaris (Rice) Bradish, grandson of Joseph and Mary Bradish, who were in Cambridge as early as 1631. Jerusha Morton was a daughter of Samuel and Lydia Morton (see Vol. I, p. 192).

† A granddaughter who remembered her at the time of her removal from Concord in her sixty-fourth year describes her as she rode to her new home on horseback, as a "stately erect lady in a scarlet riding habit." The story is told of how, when a young woman of but eighteen years, the news having reached her that her brother had been wounded at Lexington, she went alone on horseback from New Salem, riding thirty-six hours with only four hours' rest. Arriving at Lexington, she was told that her brother was in the hospital, to which she would not be admitted since "it was no place for a woman." After several hours of argument, going from one official to another, she finally gained admission, procured medical aid for her brother, who was supposed to be fatally wounded, and after was ever a favorite stopping place for pioneer ministers, who always found a warm welcome, and who were fond of drawing the old gentleman into a discussion (in which his wife usually joined), often receiving help from his original thoughts on the religious questions of the day.

She was a daughter of Stephen and Meribah Bachelor of Royalston, was born Dec. 19, 1788, and died in Templeton, aged 55 years. Soon after his marriage he settled at Templeton where he bought a farm. Like his father he was noted among his neighbors for his readiness in repartee, his courageous cheerfulness under all circumstances, and his kind helpfulness to all with whom he came in contact. Hard work on his small rocky farm hardly sufficed to supply the needs of his growing family, and during the long cold winter months he made trips to Boston with sled loads of shingles cut from his woodland. Once when asked by a Boston friend of what crop his farm was most productive his laconic reply was "children." He was a member and regular attendant of the Methodist church. He died at the age of seventy-nine years.

June 5, 1810, he married Sarah Wadsworth of Grafton, and after her death, in 1824, he married Rachel Dyke of Athol. He lived in Grafton and Athol. He died in Grafton July 1, 1853, where a gravestone stands to his memory. "He was a consistent church member, eloquent in prayer, a lifelong Christian," writes a grandson. While another in writing of him says: "He was witty, fond of a joke, a lover of children, a genial companion, and a staunch friend. Like some other Strattons, a little bit odd, but a man of large heart and broad sympathies, and we all loved him."

Here his wife died in 1827. The following year, leaving his three small children with his parents in Athol, he took a stock of boots and shoes to Hillsboro, Ga., where his brothers, James and Asa E., were already engaged in mercantile business. In 1838 he removed to Panola Co., Miss., but later returned to Georgia and died in Dalton in 1848.

75. ASA EVANS STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (Peleg,<sup>4</sup> James,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) was born in Athol, Mass., June 13, 1798. His early educational advantages were such as the common schools of his native town afforded. At the age of twenty-one he emigrated to Hillsboro, Jasper Co., Ga., where he resided for sixteen years as a merchant, dealing largely in boots and shoes.* In 1836 he removed to Panola Co., Miss., where he purchased large and valuable tracts of land, and was one of the early settlers of that section of the state.† For more than twenty years he was a prosperous planter, identified with the building up and improvement of North Mississippi. He was one of the originators of the Mississippi & Tennessee Railroad, and one of its first directors. In 1859 he moved to Texas, lived for one year in Bastrop Co., and then purchased a plantation in Brazoria Co., near Cedar Lake, where he was extensively engaged in the cultivation of sugar and cotton. A man of unconquerable energy, he often said he would rather wear out than rust out, and, although in his eightieth year, he still maintained his mental and physical activity to an unusual degree,

* His goods were shipped from Boston to Savannah and then hauled overland by team to Hillsboro, a distance of one hundred and fifty miles.

† He had then received a commission from the U. S. Government to furnish beef for the Indians who were being moved from the Southeastern States and settled in Indian Territory.

and up to within a few weeks of his death was actively engaged in the management of his plantation and general business affairs. In early life he made a profession of religion and became a member of the church. Although retaining to the last many of his strong New England characteristics, he became identified with the South, and gave to her, in prosperity and adversity, a uniform support. He was a Major in the Confederate army. Mr. Stratton was married four times, and was fortunate and happy in his marital relations, and fortunate in seeing the kindly and fraternal relations existing between the children of his four marriages.

In March, 1824, he married Mary Graves Alexander of Jasper Co., Ga. She died two years after their removal to Mississippi. Feb. 26, 1843, he married Amanda Ann (Gibbons) Wood of Marshall Co., Miss. She died June 9, 1847. He married, third, Mrs. Caroline Ann (Steger) Pearson, who died in 1854. In 1856 he married Mary Jane Chisholm, who died in Texas in 1872. Major Stratton died on Sabbath morning, July 22, 1877, at his home in Luling, Texas.

She was the mother of eleven children, the youngest but ten years old when she was left a widow. She ever strove to instill into their young minds the principles of integrity and industry. A grandson who was often in her house in his boyhood days writes, "The things that I remember most distinctly about these visits are my grandmother's delicious cookies, and the motto which always hung upon her wall, 'Death before Dishonor.'"

93. JONAS STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (Jonas,<sup>4</sup> David,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) was born in Stow, Mass., Oct. 10, 1791. He was but six years old when his father died. As one of a large family of children, he was early forced to shift for himself. He lived for awhile with his older brother Lewis in Amherst, N. H., and here he learned the cabinet makers' trade. While still little more than a boy he emigrated to the "wilds of Ohio" where several of his Amherst neighbors had settled and named the little settlement Amherst, after their New Hampshire home. He worked at his trade and presently bought a farm and built a house. Mar. 31, 1822, he married Lucy Smith, and their hospitable home became the center of many happy recollections.

In this home they lived to a good old age. Mr. Stratton died Sept. 26, 1878. They were both members of the Congregationalist church.

Many of the younger men of Massachusetts were looking toward "the West" and James Stratton, industrious and enterprising, and innately a pioneer, caught the "western fever." He made a trip on horseback to Erie (then Niagara) County, N. Y., a distance of nearly four hundred miles, much of the way through an unbroken forest, along an Indian trail or bridlepath. At Concord (twenty-five miles from Buffalo), where a small frontier settlement had just been made, he bought a piece of land, made a small clearing, built a log house with a bark roof and returned to Massachusetts.* In the following spring (1812), with his wife and little son, with all their household goods packed in two covered wagons drawn by oxen, they made their way to this new home in the wilderness. Several Athol and New Salem families came with them. The journey covered 30 days. Sometimes hewing their way through the forest, and again delayed by swollen streams, across which there were no bridges, they arrived in Concord the third week in May.† The next winter Mr. Stratton built the first frame barn in that region, and a year later a frame house. In May, 1819, he sold this farm to his brother-in-law, Nehemiah Fay, and moved to a better farming section, in a long, narrow valley (later known as Little Valley Center), twenty-five miles south of Concord, settling on a tract of 300 acres of woodland which he had bought the previous year.

Here again a log house was built and a small "girdling" made—the nucleus of the farm still known as the "Stratton Place." In 1829 the house, still standing, was built.

The woods along the Allegheny River, two miles away, were full of Indians with whom Mr. Stratton had much dealing. They always regarded him as their friend, were often in his house, and he and his family showed them many a kindness. The nearest point at which dry goods and groceries could be obtained was Buffalo, 40 miles away, and during the long winter months trips were made with sled loads of farm produce, skins and alkali to exchange for such things as were needed for the family and implements for farming.‡ The opening of the Erie Canal in 1825 hastened western immigration, and in time the New York & Erie * Buffalo was then a little village of about 125 inhabitants. The following year it was burned to the ground by the British and Indians. Only three houses were left standing. Between forty and fifty people were killed and scalped by the Canadian Indians.

† War was declared with England the following month, June 1812, and for the next six years the frontier was in constant danger of attack by the Indians from across the Canadian border. Yet there seems to have been no thought of leaving these new homes. Such was the dauntless courage of our pioneer ancestors in the face of danger and peril.

‡ Mink, otter and beaver were in abundance along the streams, while the woods abounded in fox, wolves, bear and deer. The sale of furs and skins was a source of considerable revenue. Also the skins of these animals formed a good share of the dress of the early pioneers. Alkali made from the ashes of beech and maple and other hardwood trees was another source of profit.

R. R. was built through the valley.* Always highly esteemed by his townsmen, Mr. Stratton was elected to several town offices. In politics he was a Whig and a Republican. Though quiet and unassuming in manner, in conversation he was quick at repartee and with dry original jokes. Mrs. Stratton was of a more serious disposition, possessing a marked dignity of manner; a devoted wife and mother, an earnest, lifelong Christian.† During the last years of his life he received a pension for services in the war of 1812. He died Aug. 16, 1874, and Mrs. Stratton five years later, Jan. 5, 1879.

†Of a quiet, deeply religious nature, she impressed upon her children a veneration for the Christian religion—not so much by her words, which were few, as by her quiet, consistent life. None of them were ever heard to speak lightly of any sacred subject.

‡Hosea Brown, son of a Revolutionary soldier, was born in Westmoreland, N. H., in 1791. In 1896 he was one of the six survivors of the War of 1812, and the oldest man drawing a pension in the United States. He died the following year at the extreme age of one hundred and six years, having voted for United States Presidents nineteen times, the last time being carried to the poles on the shoulders of four young men and enjoying as much as they the circuitous route through the town and the playing of the band which accompanied them.

123. AMOS T. STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (Abner,<sup>5</sup> Stephen,<sup>4</sup> James,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) was born in Athol, July 31, 1818. He married Eleanor Stratton (No. 1131, Chart G), June 3, 1849. He spent his entire life in his native town with whose best interests he was always closely connected. He died June 19, 1898. Mrs. Stratton survived him six years, dying Apr. 25, 1904. The following obituary notices are from an Athol paper:

"In the death of Amos Stratton, Athol loses one of her oldest and most respected citizens. Mr. Stratton was born at the old Stratton homestead on the South Athol road, and would in about six weeks have reached his 80th birthday. At this farm four generations of Strattons have been born, and five generations have made it their home. He was for many years engaged in farming and the lumbering business. Mr. Stratton was a quiet citizen of honorable character and kindly nature, an excellent man in every respect."

"Mrs. Stratton had been a lifelong resident of Athol. For many years she had been an invalid, during the past three years unable to leave her bed, and yet she bore her sufferings in a patient, Christian-like manner, never uttering complaint, and always greeting her visitors with a cheery smile and pleasant word. Mrs. Stratton has many friends in Athol who will sincerely mourn her death. Her example of fortitude under great trial was like a benediction to all who witnessed it. In her early days she taught school. She leaves two daughters and one son, all of Athol. Her daughters have cared for her with noble loving devotion through her long years of suffering."

He was an active, energetic man and engaged in several lines of business at Athol, among them the manufacture of palm-leaf hats and the boot and shoe business. The esteem and trust with which he was regarded by his fellow townsmen is shown by the fact that for more than a third of a century he held one or more town offices. He was active in the organization of the Worcester Agricultural and Mechanic Society. His keen wit and "yankee genius" are well remembered by the older people of his native town who tell many amusing incidents of his public life. He died March 27, 1882.

For fifty years he was connected with the North Chestnut Street school, being principal for twenty-five years. Although a strict disciplinarian, he retained the affection of the pupils, and had the faculty of arousing in them an enthusiasm for study. 209. LEANDER STRATTON <sup>8</sup> (James,<sup>7</sup> Zebulon,<sup>6</sup> James,<sup>5</sup> James,<sup>4</sup> James,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) moved with his parents from Athol, Mass., to Concord, N. Y., in 1812, and seven years later to Cattaraugus Co., N. Y. Here, on the farm, his youth and early manhood was spent. In 1835 he married Lucy Foster, only daughter of Jonathan, Jr., and Pharney (Chase) Foster, and settled on a farm adjoining his father's in Little Valley Center.* He was chosen to fill various town offices, and for several years was Town Clerk. In 1872 Mrs. Stratton died after many months of painful illness borne with patient Christian fortitude. She was a quiet, unpretending woman, devoted to her family and never tiring in her work for them. Three years later Mr. Stratton moved to the mountains of East Tennessee and settled in Grand View, Rhea County, where the more genial climate did much to restore his then failing health. Just before moving south he married Mrs. Mary (Wheeler) Fellows, daughter of Pliny and Martha (King) Wheeler.

In the quiet, peacefulness of his mountain home he spent many hours in reading and writing. During the last twenty-five years of his life he was a regular contributor to the Forest & Stream, furnishing articles largely reminiscent of the early days and fraught with an intimate knowledge of natural history, gained by a long life spent "near to Nature's heart." Many of his articles were written after he was 75 years old, and up to a few months before his death. That all his life he had been a close student of the "Book of Nature" is very evident from those little sketches.† He died on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30, 1899, respected and loved by all who knew him. His widow died Aug. 26, 1914. Both were members of the Presbyterian church and are buried in the Presbyterian cemetery at Grand View.

* Pharney Chase was daughter of David (son of Abner and Hannah Chase) and Lucy Chase, who came from Petersham, Mass., and settled in Little Valley, N. Y., in 1817, one of the three first families to settle in that section, then an almost unbroken forest.

† He wrote over the pen name of "Antler" (and sometimes E. L. Stratton). His contributions to the Forest and Stream have been collected and re-published with a biographical sketch. They are well worth preserving as an addition to historic and natural history literature.

* Grandson of Daniel and Chloe (Wilcox) Whitmore, and Ambros and Hulda (Sanford) Waterman, of Barnstable, Mass.

† Grandson of Samuel and Elizabeth Fargo, and James and Dorcas (Akerley) Barton of Cattaraugus Co., N. Y.

‡ He was the publisher of a good many books, and for several years published a periodical, The Flag of Our Country, in which appeared daughter of Hon. Henry, Jr., and Lucy M. (Russell) Hill. She was born in Brazil, S. A., Jan. 2, 1826, where her father was United States Consul to the port of Bahia.* In 1852, his health failing, he sold his business in Cincinnati and returned to Little Valley, where he bought the home farm, building a new house near the old homestead. Here he had an opportunity for putting into practice theories which he had long entertained concerning the domesticating of certain wild animals. His ideas on the subject were far in advance of his time and only recently have been promoted by the American Bison Society and other associations for the preservation and domestication of some of the native denizens of our primeval forests. His experiments with the American elk, and several kinds of fur-bearing animals were quite successful and were watched by naturalists all over the country—many of whom came to see the animals in his parks and pens, and he had an extensive correspondence with Spencer F. Baird, Prof. Joseph Henry, Dr. Charles Gurley, and many others of this stamp.† Then, hoping to extend his experiments in a more genial climate, and to give more attention to general agriculture, he moved with his family to Grassy Cove, Tennessee, in the Cumberland Mountains, where he had bought a plantation of 1,800 acres known as the "Old Greer Stand." The Devon cattle which he brought to this farm attracted the attention of farmers throughout East Tennessee, and descendants of this herd are found on many farms to-day. He also experimented to some extent with Angora goats, and at one time had a flock of more than one hundred of them.‡ Before the opportunity came for more extended experiments his health again failed. He died June 30, 1884.§ Two years after † See Reports of the New York State Agricultural Society, and Smithsonian Reports for accounts of his experiments. Elkdale, N. Y., was named for the elk in his park.

‡ As a student of Nature, he became interested in the Botany and Geology of this interesting region, and many men interested in kindred subjects found their way to his Grassy Cove home.

§ The Cattaraugus Republican contained this notice of his death:

"The older residents of Little Valley will be pained to learn of the death of a former well known and highly esteemed citizen of this town, who for many years occupied a prominent place among our people for enterprise and uprightness of character. Mr. Lorenzo Stratton died at his home in Grassy Cove, Tennessee, on the 30th of June last.

"While a resident here he owned and greatly improved the "home farm" located at Little Valley Center, introducing many novel features thereon, the most notable of which was the raising of American Elk, which he prosecuted with considerable success. Among his sales of these animals was a pair to the king of Italy, Victor Emanuel, who sent an agent from his realms to make the purchase. The elks were safely transported to Italy, where at latest accounts they continued to thrive. Mr. S. was a good business man, always manifesting a lively zeal in agriculture and its kindred interests. For a number of years he was intimately identified with our county Agricultural Society, of which he was vice-president. He removed to his southern home several years ago, but has always retained a love for Cattaraugus."

JOSEPH STRATTON OF WALTHAM

(Chart J, Vol I)

It has been suggested that Joseph Stratton of Waltham who married Sarah Hager in 1717 (Vol. I, p. 197) was a son of John Stratton<sup>2</sup> (John<sup>1</sup>) by his first wife Mary Butters (p. 184, Vol. I) and the compiler is inclined to believe that this is the solution to this problem which has long puzzled researchers.*

The compiler has found but little more about his descendants. Joseph Stratton (No. 13, p. 200) settled in Roxbury, where he was a "housewright." June 21, 1801, he married Sarah Hayward, daughter of Samuel Hayward of Situate. He was a deacon in the church at Roxbury and was living there as late as 1837. Births of only two children are found, Susanna, b. July 9, 1802, and Elizabeth, b. July, 1805; d. Apr. 4, 1809.

John Stratton (No. 14, p. 200, Vol. I) seems to have been living in Newton in 1796, when he received $450 from his father's estate. After this the compiler has found no record of him. When Vol. I was issued it was thought that this was the John Stratton who died in Hallowell, Me., in 1801, aged 26 years. It has since been proven that this man belonged to another line of Strattons, as shown on another page of this volume.

* This suggestion was first made by Mr. Edward L. Smith of Boston, to whom the compiler is indebted for many helpful notes on the Strattons of that vicinity, especially on Jonathan Stratton of Weston.

Wm. Butters settled in Woburn before 1666. He was in King Philip's War. His wife's name was Mary. They were probably married across the water. He died in 1692. The History of Woburn states that "Widow Butters" d. in Watertown in 1701. The only child of record is William, born (g. s. rec.) in 1665. There can be hardly any doubt, however, that they had a daughter Mary who married John Stratton<sup>2</sup> in 1691. She died in 1695 and it is reasonable to suppose that her son Joseph lived with his grandmother Butters after his mother's death.

ABOUT 1720 a tract of land (about 700 acres) was set off in what is now South Foxboro, Mass., to be sold for the benefit of the schools of Dorchester—the first land set apart for the use of public schools in this country. The farm bought by Richard Stratton<sup>4</sup> was a part of this land. The picture of the house built by him about 1750 is from a photograph taken for the compiler only a few months before the house was destroyed by fire in 1908. It had long been a landmark in this section, and an attraction for lovers of the antique. Near it is the old burial ground with its quaint epitaphs.

They made cannons and cannon balls at first, and later hollow ware. In 1813 he sold his interest in this 10-acre plant to Gen. Shephard Leach. 68. JAMES STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (Benjamin,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>) was born Aug. 20, 1755. He was but four years old when his father died. Of his early life and education we are not informed. He studied medicine under Dr. Benjamin Harris, of Salem Co., N. J. Upon the breaking out of the war of 1776 he gave his services to his country's cause. After the war he graduated (M.D.) from the University of Pennsylvania and became a successful and distinguished physician, President of the New Jersey Medical Society, and a man of influence in civic and political affairs. Quoting from an obituary published at the time of his death: "Dr. Stratton was of that description of man who are justly styled the 'pillars of society,' active, intelligent, sensible, dignified, a Christian and a patriot."

He early joined the Protestant Episcopal Church, of which he was an efficient member, though he always retained a preference for the Puritan faith of his forefathers, and on Sunday afternoons was accustomed to assemble his family to instruct them in the Westminster Catechism. Although his medical practice was large, extending over a circuit of 30 miles, he so timed his engagements, that he was seldom absent from his place in church, always leading the singing with his fine bass voice. He was handsome and commanding in appearance, kindly pleasant in his manner, entertaining in conversation and was greatly loved and respected. He accumulated considerable property and left a large landed estate, the value of which, however, was much reduced by the fall in prices after the war of 1812. Dr. Stratton was twice married, first, Feb. 15, 1779, to Anna Harris, the daughter of his early preceptor. She died Feb. 19, 1783, and Jan. 1, 1787, he married Mary Creighton, daughter of Hugh and Mary (McCullough-French) Creighton, of Haddonfield, N. J. She was born Dec. 9, 1762, and died April 30, 1847. Soon after his first marriage he bought the historic old Hatton House in Swedesboro, and lived there for several years.* In 1794 he built the large brick house on the North side of Raccoon Creek, near Swedesboro, known as "Stratton Hall" (see picture, Vol. I, opposite p. 114). This house was long famous for its genial hospitality, and remained in the possession and occupancy of the family until the death of his son, Governor Stratton, in 1859. The who departed this life Mar. 29, 1812, in the 57th year of his age. With a mind strong and well cultivated, he was uncommonly useful as a citizen, and as a christian his piety and virtue will long be held in remembrance."

70. DANIEL POWELL STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (Levi,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>) was born in 1784. His mother died the year following his birth, and his father seven years later. Of his early life we know but little. Financially he had a good start in life. He inherited some property from his father and was one of the next of kin to James Harris who died in 1803, leaving no children and leaving personal property appraised at $45,000—

at that time and in that place esteemed a large amount. March 30, 1808, Mr. Stratton married Ruth Seeley Buck. She died Feb. 29, 1816, at the age of 26 years. In Jan., 1818, he married Mrs. Maria (Stratton) Fithian, widow of Erkurius Fithian and daughter of Dr. James Stratton (No. 112, Chart C).

About this time he moved to Bridgeton, N. J., and engaged in business there, first as one of the mercantile firm of "Buck & Stratton"—John Buck and Nathan L. Stratton being the other members of the firm—and later he became quite a large dealer in real estate. He purchased the house on the corner of Commerce and Atlantic streets, where he resided the remainder of his life. He was an excellent man, earnest in promoting every good cause and was held in high esteem by his acquaintances. Early in life he united with the Presbyterian Church, and for many years was a ruling elder. He died June 6, 1840.

72. JOHN LEAKE STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (John,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>) was born Feb. 23, 1778. His boyhood was spent on his father's farm. Attending school winters he obtained a common school education. At nineteen he began studying medicine with his cousin Dr. James Stratton. In 1800 he graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, and at once began the practice of medicine and surgery at Mount Holly, N. J.

“Dr. John L. Stratton was a fine specimen of manhood, affable, amiable and affectionate, he sympathized earnestly with his patients of all classes and conditions, and after a life of self-sacrifice and devoted usefulness to his profession and his patients, he died as he had lived—an honored Christian gentleman”—Aug. 17, 1845.

Dr. Stratton married first Anna Stratton (No. 111, Chart C) in 1804. She died May 15, 1810, and Dec. 26, 1816, he married Ann Newbold, who died Apr. 18, 1888. About the time of his first marriage he came into possession of the brick house on Mill street, in Mount Holly, which is now owned and occupied by his granddaughter (see picture opposite page 114, Vol. I). This house was built before 1776, and was occupied by soldiers at one time during the Revolution, while the Hessians were quartered in the tavern near by. Dr. Stratton added to the house in 1822, building on to the front part as shown in the picture. He also bought a part of the historic old Woolman property, out on Mill street, at the edge of Mount Holly, rebuilt the house and spent the greater part of his married life there. This property passed out of the Stratton family at the death of his son, Dr. B. H. Stratton.*

The compiler has records, from an old family Bible, of a John L. Stratton who was born in Camden Co., N. J., Aug. 11, 1788. It is understood by his descendants that he was son of a Revolutionary soldier, and they have in their possession a pistol which was carried by him during service in the Colonial army. They have always understood, also, that he was a near relative of Gov. Charles Stratton. He married Clara Holden, who was born in Matthew Co., Va., July 4, 1792. They lived for a while in Baltimore. They had children, Clara, Phœbe and James Holden, named for his mother's brother. James Holden Stratlowing year, Mar. 7, 1815, he married Hannah Buck, daughter of Joseph and Ruth (Secley) Buck.* Two years later he built the large brick house on Commerce street, which remained in possession of the family for ninety years. For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Stratton was one of the active business men of Bridgeton, having charge of the general merchandise department of the firm, and the business became the largest transacted in the county. Mrs. Stratton died in 1854, aged 63 years, and Mr. Stratton in 1862.

There may have been other children. The Compiler would like to know more of this family.*

*But little has been learned concerning the descendants of William.<sup>3</sup> Referring to Vol. I, p. 110, it will be seen that three of his sons are unaccounted for—Jonathan,<sup>4</sup> Ephraim<sup>4</sup> and Aaron,<sup>4</sup> and we know but little of William.<sup>4</sup> One of these sons was the father of Lot Stratton who married Elizabeth Duff Jan. 21, 1773. She died at Deerfield in 1776, and he went to Pennsylvania.

Ephraim<sup>4</sup> had a son Fithian (called "Fithian, Jr."), b. about 1770, d. 1820, who had two daughters, Judith and Sarah, and perhaps other children. William<sup>4</sup> is believed to have had several children, though we have records of only one son, William,<sup>5</sup> above.

It is probably to this branch of Strattons that belongs Noah Stratton of Deerfield township, who married Rhoda Loder Oct. 21, 1772, and had several children, among them Charles, b. 1773, and John, who is probably the man who married Phœbe Bateman April 10, 1798. Sarah Stratton, who married Daniel Loder of Deerfield Nov. 17, 1775, and Abigail Stratton, who married Reuben Loder Aug. 25, 1774, doubtless belong to this same family. Perhaps some one who reads this footnote may be able to supply the compiler with the data desired to complete these records.

In Brown Co., Ohio, are Strattons who have the following family records: William Stratton married Katherine Keethler and had children—Lot, Aaron, Lewis, John, Anderson, Sanford, Christopher, Nancy, Lucinda, Mary, Levina, America and Susan. The son Lot settled in Ohio from Pennsylvania, married Mary Davison, and had children—Louisa,

More complete records of this family are desired. The compiler has some doubt about the correctness of some of the above names.

80. JONATHAN STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (Benjamin,<sup>4</sup> Jonathan,<sup>3</sup> Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>), baptized in Easthampton, Feb. 19, 1769; died there Nov. 26, 1833. A gravestone stands to his memory in the old cemetery. From 1802 to the year of his death his name constantly appears in the list of town officers, and at various times he was Overseer of the Poor, Commissioner of Highways, Fence Viewer, pounder, trustee and tithing man. He married, Feb. 9, 1840, Mary Dayton, daughter of Samuel Dayton, a prominent man of Easthampton. They lived in the old Stratton house (see p. 116, Vol. I). This house is believed to have been built Napolian B., Francis M., Nancy, Martin V., Susan, Albina, Thomas B. and Lucinda.

The compiler believes that they are descended from William Stratton<sup>3</sup> of Deerfield, and would be glad to get further records of them.

From Mrs. Cranford of Philadelphia the compiler has also the following records: William Stratton of New Jersey m. Rebecca Hubbard and died leaving two sons: Samuel Torrance, m. Susan Lawrence, who had son Samuel Torrance, Jr.; George Washington, b. in Phila. 1814, m. Frances J. Elliot; d. 1851; had two sons, Charles Elliot, d. unm., Henry Clay, m. Cora Atkinson Dec. 9, 1875. He held pastorates in several states, his first charge being at Snow Hill, Maryland. Was a graduate of Rutgers College, New Brunswick. Soon after his graduation he was sent to the state Legislature, of which he remained a member for several terms. For many years he was connected with the political interests of his native state. He was twice a member of Congress, and was Governor of New Jersey from 1844 to 1848. He filled these positions with faithfulness and integrity, these traits being prominent features of his character. His name was a pledge of straightforward honesty to all who knew him. Feb. 1, 1854, Gov. Stratton married Sarah Taggart, daughter of Joseph and Sarah Taggart of Philadelphia. The last years of his life were devoted to agricultural pursuits at his farm near Swedesboro, where he died Mar. 30, 1859. 130. BENJAMIN HARRIS STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (John L.,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>) was born at Mount Holly, Feb. 6, 1804. He graduated at Princeton College in 1823 and commenced the study of medicine with his father. In 1829 he graduated from the medical department of the University of Penn., and at once entered into partnership with his father—a partnership which continued until the infirmities of old age caused his father to withdraw from active practice. Dr. Stratton continued his professional labors at Mount Holly for half a century—how conscientiously and successfully his work was done was shown by the love, veneration and respect of the community he so long served. He was one of the founders of the Burlington County Medical Society, of which he was elected President several times, and served as Treasurer for many years. In 1838 he was elected President of the New Jersey State Medical Society. May 11, 1829, he married Emeline Whithall, daughter of Samuel and Lydia (Newbold) Whithall, who survived him. He died Dec. 31, 1875.

J., Nov. 27, 1817. He married Caroline Elizabeth Newbold, Sept. 14, 1842. She died at Mount Holly, Nov. 6, 1897. Mr. Stratton studied law and was admitted to the Bar in 1839. He was a graduate of Princeton; was twice elected to Congress; was President of the Farmer's Bank of New Jersey at Salem; was member of the vestry at St. Andrews Church at Mount Holly; in politics he was a Whig,—later a Republican.

Children:—Born in Mt. Holly, N. J.

133. JOSEPH BUCK STRATTON<sup>6</sup> (Nathan L.,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>) was born Dec. 24, 1815. After a preparatory training at Laurenceville Academy he entered Princeton College in 1833. He studied law in Philadelphia and was admitted to the Bar in 1837. After practicing law for three years he commenced preparation for the Christian ministry. Finishing the theological course at Princeton in the spring of 1843, he received a call to the Presbyterian church at Natchez, Miss., and was ordained and installed as pastor there in December of the same year. Gentle and refined in manner, with an earnest and sincere simplicity in all that he did and said, Dr. Stratton won the confidence, love and admiration of his fellows. In 1880 he was a delegate from the Southwestern Presbyterian Church to Philadelphia, and presided at one of its sessions. In 1884 he was the Commissioner appointed by the General Assembly of the Southern Church to bear to the General Assembly of the Northern Church, which met at Saratoga, N. Y., the ratification of the fraternal relations which had been established between the two bodies. He contributed largely to the religious periodicals, and published several works of a devotional and historical character. A small volume of "Prayers for the use of families" has had a large circulation in the South. In 1889 he published his last work, A Pastor's Valedictory.

For full fifty years Dr. Stratton remained the beloved pastor of the church at Natchez, resigning his charge over it in April, 1894. His Presbytery, at the request of his congregation, conferred upon him the title of "Pastor Emeritus." He died April 14, 1903, after only a few hours of sickness, though in frail health for several years.

He remained with his people in Natchez during the terrible epidemics of 1853, 1855, 1858, and 1871, when the yellow scourge stalked through the fair city, striking down its victims among the high and low. His presence during these periods was a benediction in many a home of sorrow, for he never faltered in his work of ministering to the sick, comforting the dying and consoling the sorrowing among the rich and poor alike. He staid with his people during the Civil War, sharing patiently with them the rigors and privations of those troublous times, thoughtful always of their welfare, never of his own personal convenience and comfort. It is no wonder they loved and revered him. A memorial Sunday school building in connection with the church was dedicated three years before his death as "Stratton Chapel." We quote from a Natchez daily paper:

"All Natchez joined to-day in the sweet and beautiful tribute of respect to the memory of their beloved and faithful friend, Dr. Joseph Buck Stratton. Around the bier in Stratton Chapel gathered people of all denominations, old and young, rich and poor, white and colored—in life he was their friend and brother. He knew no rank or station, or dividing line. He loved his work, and consecrated his life to its full performance. How well and how faithful the service he rendered was amply attested when the people of Natchez laid all else aside to pay feeling tribute to his memory. The public schools closed at noon, and during the funeral service, by common consent, and without an interchange of thought, the business men, moved by a single thought—respect for their beloved dead—closed their doors. There was no exception.”

Oct. 8, 1844, Dr. Stratton married Mary Vanuxem Smith, daughter of Nathan and Louisa (Vanuxem) Smith, of Philadelphia, who, in the four short years of her life as a pastor's wife in Natchez, won the love and esteem of the strangers among whom she had come to dwell. She died Dec. 22, 1848, and is buried in Laurel Hill, Philadelphia. Four years later, Nov. 16, 1852, Dr. Stratton married Caroline Matilda Routh, daughter of Austin and Caroline M. Routh, of Natchez.

He graduated at Princeton, admitted to the Bar in 1852, and opened a law office in Camden, where he became one of New Jersey's most prominent lawyers, acquiring a lucrative practice. In 1872 he was elected Judge of Camden County for a term of five years. As a member of the City Council he was instrumental in securing several important municipal reforms. He took a warm interest in politics, voted the Republican ticket, was Director of Camden & Philadelphia Ferry Co., the Bridgeton National Bank, West Jersey Railroad Co., and several other corporations. Dec. 18, 1856, he married Clara Cooper, daughter of Benjamin and Abigail (Pride) Cooper. He died July 30, 1884.

His father dying when he was but ten years old, and his mother soon after, Nathan was brought up in the hospitable home of his uncle, Dr. John Leake Stratton, at Mount Holly (see picture, opposite p. 114, Vol. I). Ambitious, enterprising and resolute, he left New Jersey while a young man to make a place for himself in the West, settling in the western part of Texas in 1853—at a period when it took courage and determination to build a home in that wild, unsettled country. Here he became an active business man, closely identified with the history of that section of the state in which he lived. He was a member of Capt. Black's company of minute men, was a Government contractor for many years, and in 1870 was sent to the city of Mexico to establish a precedent in the execution of criminals between the United States and the Republic of Mexico, under the extradition treaty then existing between the two countries.

Jan. 27, 1863, Mr. Stratton married Melverda Gillian MacKinney. In faith a Presbyterian, but living where there was no church of his denomination, Mr. Stratton went with his family to the Episcopal church to worship, and his children naturally became Episcopalians. A Republican in politics, his sons have all adhered to his political faith. In 1901 the family moved from Texas to Safford, Arizona, where they now reside.

*A will of Levi Stratton,<sup>4</sup> dated Feb. 14, 1792 (the day before his death), has recently been found among unrecorded and unindexed papers of Cumberland County. It shows that he was married the second time. It names "My wife Elizabeth, my wife's daughter Jemima, my son Daniel Powell, and daughter Sarah." A belief has been current among some of his descendants that Abigail Powell was a widow when Levi Stratton<sup>4</sup> married her. This may be an error, arising from the fact that his second wife was a widow.

* A great deal of time and study has been given to research regarding this David Stratton. He has many descendants. His sons became men of prominence and influence, occupying positions of trust and importance, but concerning their father no written record has been found. In the possession of a descendant is an old family Bible giving his children's names, but his own name does not appear, nor that of his wife.

Among his descendants it is very generally understood that their ancestor came to New Jersey from Easthampton. If he is descended from Benjamin Stratton<sup>2</sup> who settled in New Jersey in 1715 (p. 106), he must be of the fourth generation, and for convenience in tracing he is so considered in this volume, leaving it to future research to solve the problem of the missing links—a problem that has long baffled the early date, probably about the time of his marriage.* He died in Millville.

308. PRESTON STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (David<sup>4</sup>) was born Dec. 16, 1773. He was a prominent citizen of Millville for nearly fifty years, a member of the Presbyterian church, and a successful business man. June 2, 1798, he married Sarah Bateman. She was born July 16, 1778, and died in Millville, Oct. 22, 1842. He died Apr. 19, 1840.

compiler. That the connection will some time be found the writer doubts not, and only hopes that the facts given here may serve to help some one else to find what she has failed to discover. Some deed, will, grave-stone, church or court record must hold the data so much desired. It will be remembered that Isaac<sup>3</sup> and David<sup>3</sup> very likely left children, though no record of them has yet been found (p. 107, Vol. I).

Unsuccessful search has been made for his burial place. Port Elizabeth, six miles from Millville, was then a much more important place than Millville, and it is believed that he and his wife were buried there in the old grave yard containing many unmarked graves. Perhaps some Stratton who reads this may know of some facts which may throw light on the subject.

*Some of her descendants believe that her name was Sarah Preston. Roger Preston, b. 1614, came to America with wife Martha in the Elizabeth and Ann in 1635. He was of Ipswich and Salem, Mass. He had seven children—Thomas, Samuel, John, Jacob, Levi b. 1662. Elizabeth and Mary. Levi (and perhaps others) settled in Cumberland Co., N. J. His children were Levi, Jr., b. 1697, Martha, John b. 1701, Mary, Abigail (m. Benjamin Stratton<sup>3</sup>), Isaac b. 1707, and Freelove. It is quite likely that somewhere in this family may be found a Sarah of suitable age for the wife of David Stratton, and perhaps some Preston will, or administration, may furnish the clew needed.

† She was named for her mother, and she named her son for her father, David Stratton. He was born in 1805, and the name David Stratton Woodruff has come down through four generations and been repeated in several branches of her descendants.

311. JEREMIAH STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (David <sup>4</sup>) was born Sept. 1, 1779 (see his picture). He married, first, Zerviah Bateman, Nov. 8, 1800. She died Apr. 24, 1836, aged 62 years and 7 days, and he married, second, Mrs. Margaret Busby, who died in 1865, aged 65 years. He lived all his life in his native town, where he was a highly esteemed citizen, and for upwards of forty years was in public life, filling various offices of trust and honor. He was a Justice of the Peace for many years, Judge of the County Court, and several times a member of the state legislature. As a testimonial of the esteem in which he was held, all the places of business in the town were closed on the day of his funeral. Quoting from a newspaper clipping dated May, 1851: "Judge Stratton was one of the oldest and most useful citizens of Millville. But much as he will be missed by his fellow citizens, the church has sustained a loss which cannot soon be replaced. She mourns one of her ablest and most willing supporters. For forty five years he has held the office of ruling elder in the Presbyterian church with fidelity and acceptance." He died May 26, 1851, and is buried in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

JONATHAN STRATTON OF PHILADELPHIA

[433.] JONATHAN STRATTON, with wife Elizabeth, was living in Philadelphia in 1780, where they were members of the Second Presbyterian Church. He died five years later. The record of his burial (Nov. 21, 1785) on the church books says that he was 31 years old. (He may have been in his 31st year.) The baptisms of his children are also recorded on the books of the second church.*

This apparently is the Benjamin Stratton whose name first appears in the Philadelphia City Directory in 1804 as a block and pump-maker. He married, first, Elizabeth Parker, Oct. 10, 1801. She was a daughter of Elisha and Mary Parker of Philadelphia.† She died about 1812, and he married, second, Grizelda Hazlet, May 10, 1816.‡ They were married by Rev. Ezra Stileseby, of the third church. She died Apr. 24, 1863, aged 73 years, as shown by her gravestone at Laurel Hill. His will was made Dec. 28, 1818, and probated Jan. 25, 1819.

—438 Jonathan,<sup>7</sup> b. Sept. 25, 1804; bapt. Aug. 16, 1807.

* Long and faithful research has failed to positively establish the parentage of this Jonathan Stratton.

It seems quite probable that he was Jonathan <sup>5</sup> (64) who was born in Fairfield, N. J., about 1755 (see Vol I, p. 113). It is now known that Jonathan <sup>4</sup> (30) died in 1759 of that terrible epidemic (now believed to have been black measles) which carried away in one year so many people in that part of New Jersey, among whom were five members of the family of Benjamin Stratton <sup>3</sup> (17).

This would have left Jonathan <sup>5</sup> (64) an orphan at the age of about five years, as his mother died in 1756. Assuming this to be the parentage of this Jonathan Stratton of Philadelphia, the author designates him as of the fifth generation in this record of his descendants.

† Elisha Parker died in Philadelphia in 1816, and his wife in 1818. They came to Philadelphia from Gloucester Co., N. J.

‡ This marriage is recorded as above on the books of the Third Church, Philadelphia. She had a sister, Margaret Hazlet, who married John Stevenson of Philadelphia, and whose descendants live in that city to-day.

§ The births and baptisms of these four children are given above just as they appear on the books of the Third Church. In each case the record reads: "Son (or daughter) of Benjamin and Elizabeth Stratton."

ABSTRACT OF WILL OF BENJAMIN STRATTON

Will of Benjamin Stratton of Philadelphia, Block and Pump Maker. Sick and weak in body but of sound mind, memory and understanding. Payment of just debts and funeral charges.

My four children, Henry, Jonathan, Benjamin and Elizabeth, all under age, the sum of $50.00 each as they become of age, the boys at 21 years, the girls at 18. As they severally become entitled to the same, and before receiving it, they are to resign to my executor all claim they may be entitled to on account of the sum of $160.00 I received from the estate of their grandfather Elisha Parker.

All the rest of the estate to wife Grizelda Stratton, her heirs, etc., the better to help her to educate the said Elizabeth and

Now, on the same books are these records:

"Mary, born Mar. 1, 1808; bapst. June 8, 1808; daughter of Benjamin and Elizabeth Stratton.

"Benjamin Thackary, b. Oct. 18, 1809; bapst. Jan. 31, 1810; son of Benjamin and Elizabeth Stratton.

"Sarah, bapst. May 4, 1814 (no date of birth); daughter Benjamin and Elizabeth Stratton."

The compiler is at a loss to know how to place these. Were there two Benjamin Strattons with wife Elizabeth in Philadelphia? Or were our Benjamin and Elizabeth the parents of seven children, three of whom died before the making of the will which names only four children of Benjamin and Elizabeth Stratton? It is left for some future student of this particular line of Strattons to solve the problem over which the compiler of this volume has spent many hours of study and research (see footnote, Vol. I, p. 110).

*Is this the Benjamin Stratton who with wife Elizabeth is buried at Laurel Hill? The inscription on their gravestones reads as follows:

"Benjamin Stratton, Died August 8, 1882, aged 77 yrs. Elizabeth Stratton, his wife, Died May 7, 1856, aged 52 yrs."

our two children James and Mary during their minority. Wife sole executrix.

437. HENRY STRATTON<sup>7</sup> (Benjamin,<sup>6</sup> Jonathan<sup>5</sup>) lived in Philadelphia where he was born in 1802. He died while his children were still young. In 1823 he was living at No. 15 Relief Street as shown by the City Directory of that date. Soon after this he was engaged in the mercantile business with Mr. Wilson at Nos. 13 and 14 Water Street. Later he went to South America on a merchant ship and never returned. It is supposed he was killed in an earthquake near Caracus.*

445. HENRY STRATTON<sup>8</sup> (Henry,<sup>7</sup> Benjamin,<sup>6</sup> Jonathan<sup>5</sup>) was born May 24, 1826. On the records of the communicants of St. Paul Church, Philadelphia, is a notice of his removal to Richmond, Va., Apr. 18, 1843. Although then but seventeen years of age, he at once became engaged in the book and stationary business in Richmond. Later he removed to Petersburg, Va., where for many years he successfully engaged in the mercantile business, and where he owned considerable property, and where he was most highly esteemed and respected. June 6, 1853, he married Mary Lavinia Whyte, a daughter of Henry and

*The record of his marriage has not yet been found. One family tradition has it that he married the widow of Dr. Napeer of Philadelphia, that she died early and that the children, left orphans while quite young, were brought up by their grandmother, Grizelda (Hazlet) Stratton. Others believe that the name of the wife of Henry Stratton was Grizelda Hazlet, the same as that of his stepmother, and perhaps she was his stepmother's niece. Any one having exact knowledge of this generation of Strattons will confer a favor by writing the compiler.

*Eliza Ann (Tafts) Whyte.** She was born in Petersburg June 27, 1831.

In 1859 Mr. Stratton, with a military company from Petersburg, took part in the capture of John Brown at Harper's Ferry. When the Civil War broke out he espoused the cause of his adopted home, and joined the Confederate army, serving first under the command of Capt. C. F. Fisher, and then under Capt. Robt. D. McIlwaine in Petersburg Cavalry of Volunteers. Later as a staff officer under Major-General George Edward Pickett, of Gettysburg fame, and continued in service until the close of the war. He died Feb. 20, 1875, at his home in Petersburg.

* There can be no doubt about this Benjamin Stratton being a descendant of Benjamin Stratton<sup>2</sup> who settled in New Jersey in 1715 (Vol I, p. 106). Whether of the fifth or sixth generation has not yet been determined. Until research, which is yet being made, brings to light something more definite, he is here regarded as of the fifth generation. He has many descendants in New Jersey. May not some of them find the "connecting link"—in some old family record, on some gravestone, in some will or administration? His son William inherited some property from the Poulson estate. Some clew might be found there.

In the old Christ church cemetery, below Fairton, N. J., is a stone bearing this inscription: "In memory of Benjamin, son of Benjamin and Sarah Stratton, who departed this life Oct. 2, 1750, aged 17 years." Who was he?

JOHN STRATTON OF EASTHAMPTON

(Chart D, Vol. I)

"One generation shall praise thy works to another." PSALMS cxlv, 3.

FROM 1649 for more than an hundred years the name of John Stratton appears continually on church and town records at Easthampton, and many times it is impossible to tell to which John Stratton the record refers. The dates of baptism on the church records there are not always to be relied upon. They seem sometimes to have been made from memory at the end of the year, or later. In several places the baptism of the same child is recorded twice under different dates. On one page is the record "Baptised the 4 children of Jon. Stratton, John, Henry, Selvanus and Frederick," while on other pages these baptisms are recorded under different dates.

Recently a most careful and thoughtful study has been made of all these records and the following conclusions are submitted:

First, that John Stratton's son baptised July 8, 1760 (name not given in record of baptism, see p. 132, Vol. I), was Samuel, who was born in 1759, and who was drowned at Sag Harbor in 1789, leaving three children, Mary, Samuel and Sidney.

Second, that the history of Easthampton and other authorities (including Vol. I of A Book of Strattons) are in error concerning the two John Strattons, Nos. 21 and 26 of Chart D, Vol. I. The compiler now believes that it was John <sup>4</sup> (John,<sup>3</sup> Stephen,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) who died leaving five daughters, Ruth, Sarah, Mary, Hannah and Anna.* While it was John <sup>4</sup> (John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) whose sons John, Henry, Frederick, Selvanus and Samuel were baptised in Easthampton by Rev. Samuel Buell.

Among other things which have led to this conclusion are these:

*These names are said to have been taken from the will of a John Stratton which mentions "my daughters, Ruth Hedges, Sarah Jessup, Mary Conklin, Hannah Chatfield, Anna Hildreth." The compiler has never been able to find this will.

John Stratton<sup>2</sup> (John<sup>1</sup>) was a prominent man in the community, and, as eldest son, inherited the greater part of his father's property, was highly esteemed, married the daughter of the pastor, Rev. Thomas James, and lived to the good old age of 90 years. His property was inherited by his only son, John,<sup>3</sup> who died in Sept., 1721, at the age of 22 years, and whose son, John,<sup>4</sup> was born the following October. He (John<sup>4</sup>) inherited the property of his father and grandfather, married the daughter of the well-known Lion Gardiner and continued to live in Easthampton, where some of his descendants still reside. The estate was probably divided up among the sons of John.<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>5</sup> the eldest son (perhaps receiving a double portion), settled in Clinton Co., N. Y., while Samuel<sup>5</sup> remained in Easthampton and his great-grandson is living there to-day.

Now the Clinton County Strattons still have in their possession a fine old copy of the Geneva Version of the Bible, printed in London in 1610, which has been passed down from father to son for many generations. It is well understood by them that it has passed down through a John Stratton in each generation. They have no knowledge or tradition of a Stephen in their ancestry.*

---

* This Bible, a rare old book, is owned by Mr. A. T. Stratton,<sup>8</sup> now of Columbia, S. C., to whom it was given by his father, John T. Stratton,<sup>7</sup> who received it from his uncle, John Stratton,<sup>6</sup> who died without issue. It was brought to Clinton Co., N. Y., by John Stratton<sup>5</sup> (No. 61). The only family record in it is the following, written in beautiful large script:

John Stratton April 1.
John Stratton, his heir
April 1st Anno
Dominie 1762.

The book was rebound some time before 1790—probably at Easthampton (?). The original fly leaves are pasted down to the covers—who can tell what invaluable records, now indecipherable, may have been written on them? On the title page is the following:

Imprinted at
London by Robert Barker
Printer to the King's most Excellent Majesty
1610.

It is the "Black Letter Edition" of the version translated in 1560 by English refugees who were staying with Calvin in Geneva, and was the authorized version of the Bible in England from 1560 until superseded by the King James Version, the first edition of which was printed by Robert Barker in 1611.

If, then, the reader of this will make the following corrections in his copy of Vol. I of A Book of Strattons he will have what the compiler is now convinced is the true record:

On page 131 draw a pencil through the lines, "There are no records of children on the church books of Easthampton. A family record says that this John Stratton died leaving the following" and in place of the names "Ruth, Sarah, Mary, Hannah and Anna" write John, Henry, Frederick, Selvanus and Samuel.

On page 132 draw a pencil through "but he seems to have been living in his native town as late as 1759, when he is mentioned in his father's will." Also through "Baptised at Easthampton" and in place of the names "John, Henry, Frederick, Selvanus and a son," write Ruth, Sarah, Mary, Hannah and Anna. Make these same changes in names on Chart D. Then John<sup>5</sup> will be No. 54 instead of No. 61, and Samuel<sup>5</sup> will be No. 58 instead of No. 65.*

FIFTH GENERATION

54 (61 in Vol. I). JOHN STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (John<sup>4</sup>, John<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>) was born in 1745. He married Esther Talmage, who was born May 5, 1745. She was daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Fithian) Talmage of Easthampton. (See Easthampton records.) After their marriage they lived for some time at Smithtown, L. I., and may have lived for a while at Newburgh.† About 1790 they settled at Plattsburg, Clinton Co., N. Y., where he bought a tract of land, covered with virgin forest, on the shore of Lake Champlain. On the list of the first eighteen members of the First Presbyterian Church at Plattsburg, appears the

* Easthampton records contain these entries:

Mr. Jon Stratton died May 30, 1766.

John Stratton's wife died Jan. 1793.

A more complete research than the compiler has been able to make, of deeds and land transfers, might throw some further light on these John Strattons.

† Closely connected with John Stratton at Smithtown and at Plattsburg was Judge Thomas Treadwell, of honored memory. They bought adjoining farms on Lake Champlain, and the families were close friends.

names of John and Esther Stratton.* Esther died Apr. 12, 1819, aged 74 years. Both are buried in the old burial ground in Beekmantown (once a part of Plattsburg) on what was then the David Parsons farm, where tombstones stand to their memory. On John's stone is this inscription: "In memory of John Stratton, Esq., who died April 26, 1821, aged 76 years.

My flesh shall slumber in the ground,
Till the last trumpet's joyful sound,
Then burst the chains with sweet surprise,
And in my Saviour's image rise."

John's will, made in 1817, and Esther's, made the same year, are recorded in Plattsburg.†

Children:—Probably born in Smithtown, L. I.

- 106 John,<sup>6</sup> d. unm. Apr. 8, 1844, aged 69 years; made his will in 1841; tombstone at Beekmantown.

- 108 Mary,<sup>6</sup> m. Thomas Treadwell, Jr., before 1817.
- 109 Joel,<sup>6</sup> d. unm.‡
- 110 Hannah,<sup>6</sup> unm. in 1817; later married and moved west; d. before 1841.

*The other names on the list are Ezekiel Hubbard, Abner Pomroy, William and Mrs. Badlam, Moses Corbin, Elizabeth Adams, Catherine Hagerman, Catherine Marsh, Lucretia Miller, Phebe Platt, Mary Adams, Stephen and Mrs. Mix, Martha Coe, William Platt and John Culner. Another early settler in Plattsburg was Elias Woodruff.

† One of the executors of these wills was Nathan Miller. Several Millers from Easthampton settled in Clinton Co.

‡ Joel was killed by a falling tree; his tombstone is in the old burial ground on the farm formerly owned by the Hon. Thomas Treadwell. It bears this inscription:

"In memory of Joel Stratton, son of John and Esther Stratton, who died Dec. 28, 1798, aged 19 years.

The rising morning can't assure
That we shall end the day,
For death stands ready every hour
To snatch our lives away."

Many helpful notes on this family of Plattsburg Strattons have been furnished the compiler by Mr. James A. Stratton, born in Canada of English and Scotch ancestry, son of James and Jane (Orr) Stratton. He settled in Plattsburg in 1884, and is a well-known business man there, having been city chamberlain and loan commissioner, civil service commissioner, Master Mason of Clinton Lodge, and for nine years member of Board of Health.

66. SAMUEL STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (Samuel,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> Stephen,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) has not been farther traced. Information concerning him is desired. The Samuel who died Sept. 3, 1784, was 13 years old (see Easthampton Records) and so may have been son of Mathew (29).

73. JONATHAN STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (Joseph,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> Cornelius,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) was born in Huntington, L. I., in 1748. He was a weaver by trade. He married Mary Godfrey at Westport, Conn., Aug. 30, 1770. They were married by Rev. Hezekiah Ripley. They were admitted into West Farms Church, Fairfield, Feb. 24, 1771. She died Oct. 13, 1833; he died three years later, July 3, 1837.*

*There is a tradition current among his descendants, as there is in several other branches of Strattons, that Staten Island once belonged to the Strattons. The writer has found nothing to account for this tradition.

74. JOSEPH STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (John,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> Cornelius,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) was born July, 1751, in Fairfield, Conn. He was a Revolutionary soldier, a Corporal in the 7th Regt., enlisting at Fairfield with his father and his brother Stephen. He was at Fairfield when the town was burned by the British.* In 1778 he married Eunice Berry. About 1792 he settled in Roxbury, Delaware Co., N. Y., where he and his brother Samuel were among the very first settlers. Here he became a successful farmer. His farm was two miles below the present village of Roxbury. The beautiful "Stratton Falls," on a small branch of the Delaware, are on this farm, which was then an unbroken wilderness, reached by these sturdy first settlers by cutting the brush and logs before them, and carrying their household goods on an ox sled. Near the falls is the old burial ground, known as the "Old School Baptist Church Cemetery," where many Strattons are buried. Joseph died in 1827, and Eunice, his widow, in 1842, aged 88 years. Tombstones stand in their memory.

*Connecticut colonial records show that John Stratton<sup>4</sup> and his sons, Joseph and Stephen, enlisted in the 7th Regiment July 19, 1775, at Fairfield, Conn. The regiment was ordered by Gen. Washington to Boston camps Sept. 14, 1775, and was there assigned to Gen. Sullivan's brigade at Winter Hill, on the left of the besieging line. It remained there until the city was evacuated by the British. The regiment then returned to Connecticut, where it served as minute men along the sound, and was called out on various alarms during the war. John Stratton<sup>4</sup> served nine years as a soldier and was discharged at Fishkill, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1786. He and his sons received "bounty land" in New York State.

Y., where he was a pioneer farmer, clearing a farm from the forest of the new country to which he and his large family had come. He died Jan. 26, 1842. His wife died one year earlier, Feb. 17, 1841.

STRATTONS OF CONNECTICUT JOHN STRATTON OF WOODBURY

(Chart K, Vol. I)

"Genealogy helps to solve many problems in history." W. H. MILLS.

AS John Stratton owned land in Woodbury in 1682 he must have been at least twenty-one years old at that time. He may have been much older. As he received four "lay outs" of land he seems to have been a man of some prominence in the colony. Whether a son of some earlier emigrant or an "after-planter" from England, the most thorough study that the compiler has been able to make has failed to reveal. It is still hoped that future research will discover his parentage, either here or in England.* Recently a few additional items have been found concerning some of his descendants in the third and fourth generation. (See page 226, Vol. I.) They are here given:

4. JOHN STRATTON<sup>3</sup> moved with his family to his father's homestead on Main St. in Stratford, June 11, 1807. The compiler has found no other mention of him or his family. Some think that he settled in Vermont.†

6. THOMAS STRATTON<sup>3</sup> lived in Stratford village, where he died in July, 1787. Did he leave children?

*Among his descendants the tradition is current that their English ancestor came first to Long Island, and then to Connecticut—and this seems most probable. The compiler has found nothing to indicate that this branch of Strattons came from Concord.

† A John Barlow Stratton was born in North Stratford, May 2, 1785, and married Lorenda Couger in St. Albans, Vt., March 31, 1814. He became a widely known and much loved minister in the Methodist Episcopal Church—was Presiding Elder for many years. He held charges from 1812 to 1863 at St. Albans, Ticonderoga, Plattsburg, Middleburg, New York City, Saratoga, Troy, Sag Harbor, and Brooklyn. He died in Jonesville, Saratoga Co., N. Y., in March 1863, after only three days' sickness. "He was faithful in every field of labor, true to every interest committed to him." He left no descendants. Whose son was he?

14. DAVID STRATTON<sup>4</sup> married, first, Dec. 28, 1780, Mary French at Trumbull; second, Apr. 7, 1783, Olive Treadwell. Nothing more has been found of him in Connecticut, and he too may have settled in Vermont.

17. JOHN STRATTON<sup>4</sup> (Thomas,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) married, first, Mary Burrough. See Vol. I, p. 229. Their children were:

—32 John William, b. July, 1806. What became of him?

—33 Elizabeth, m. Albert Burritt.

—34 Joseph, b. Mar. 21, 1810; m. Antoinette Kellogg Nash, d. of William and Emeline (Lockwood) Nash, Sept. 12, 1867, and resided in Stratford.

24. DAVID STRATTON<sup>4</sup> (David,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) married Aurilla Biersley, and lived in Bridgeport. Information concerning him and his family is wanted.

27. ROBERT CHAPMAN STRATTON<sup>4</sup> had (in addition to the children given on p. 230, Vol. I) a daughter Mary, who married William Baldwin in 1834. His daughter Aurilla (Stratton) Reed died in Los Angeles Nov. 2, 1908. She always claimed that she was a relative of Horace Greeley. How related?

FIFTH GENERATION

28. SAMUEL EDWARDS STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (Thomas,<sup>4</sup> Thomas,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) was born Mar. 8, 1778, in Trumbull, near Bridgeport, Conn.* For many years he was an iron and steel merchant in Bridgeport of the firm of "Brooks and Stratton," on Water Street. His house is still standing, No. 1044 North Avenue, formerly "Kings High Way," the old road from Boston to New York. Here all his children were born. After his second marriage he moved into a new house on Commeree Street. He was a man of considerable wealth for that time and place.† He

*This is the date of birth given in the church records at Trumbull. The same source gives April 18, 1779, as date of his baptism.

After a few weeks' prospecting for gold in the mountains, Mr. Stratton was taken sick, and advised to return home at once. ## WILLIAM STRATTON OF WINDSOR

"The use of arms is closely connected with the study of genealogy."

DALLAWAY, A.D. 1793.

THE little we know of William Stratton of Windsor seems to indicate that he was a man of some standing in his day and time. Windsor, it will be remembered, was one of the settlements made by Massachusetts people—emigrants who objected to the law which refused the right to vote to those not members of the Puritan church, and who desired to form communities where all might have the franchise. For two or more decades there was a constant movement from the older Massachusetts towns to the newer settlements in the fertile Connecticut Valley. In many cases they were joined by the sons of the earliest settlers on Long Island. From either one of these sources William Stratton, or his parents, may have come, for we know of Strattons whose names early disappeared from the records of these older settlements and who have not been definitely located elsewhere. (See pages 71, 92, 104, Vol. I.)

If he was an "after-planter," coming as a young man from England, a research there might discover his ancestry. Some will, administration or court record there might identify him as the William Stratton of this Connecticut colony.*

* There is a tradition that William Stratton of Windsor belonged to an armigerous line. The compiler has found a coat-of-arms in several families, but has been unable to discover its origin. It seems to have been used by them for several generations.

has found no official record of military service of Martin Stratton<sup>3</sup> but family tradition says that he was a "Revolutionary patriot, who bankrupted himself to supply the army with flour." The official Revolutionary records of Connecticut are far from complete. It is very probable that he, like many Connecticut soldiers, received land grants for his service to his country and that he and his sons settled on these grants in Pennsylvania and New York.*

the city made him one of the most important members. He was elected and re-elected until he had served twenty-one years in that body. He was a member of the Jeffersonville Lodge of Odd Fellows and a Mason, and after retiring from business gave a good deal of time to these societies. Oct. 3, 1869, he married, second, Helen T. Cline, who died in Louisville in 1876. He died in Jeffersonville Nov. 10, 1885, of a stroke of paralysis, and his estate was divided equally among the four children then living.*

* A letter from Stephen Curry Stratton, written to his father from Fulton Co., Ill., dated June 22, 1827, tells of the fine crops they have on their newly cleared land, and their "market in three ways." One way was to St. Louis, about two hundred miles, where they could get all family necessities; another to the lead mines, about two hundred miles to the north, and then "our market to Chicaugoe, about two hundred and fifty miles, is going to be our best market. A great many cattle are drove there now. They have erected a slaughter-house there where they pack porke and beef and ship to New York."

Pacific at San José, Cal., and filled that position for ten years, increasing the roll of students from 150 to 500 and greatly improving the financial condition of the university. During this time he usually preached at two services each Sabbath, in the churches of Oakland, San Francisco and elsewhere. Under these manifold labors his health failed, compelling his resignation from the presidency. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by the University of Evanston, Ill. His alma mater honored him in like manner. In 1891 he was elected Chancellor of Willamette University, resigning the following year to accept the presidency of Portland University. Earnest, scholarly, cheerful, Dr. Stratton went his helpful way among men, his persuasive eloquence as a preacher and sympathetic helpfulness as a teacher greatly endearing him to those with whom he came in contact, and winning many to the Master for whose glory he so earnestly labored. He died in Salem, Oregon, April 4, 1910. In 1858, Dr. Stratton married Julia E. Walker, daughter of Rev. Alvin F. Walker, one of the early Methodist missionaries, who arrived in Oregon about 1840.

107. WINFIELD SCOTT STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (Myron,<sup>5</sup> Cephas,<sup>4</sup> Martin,<sup>3</sup> Serajah,<sup>2</sup> William <sup>1</sup>) was born in Jeffersonville, Ind., July 22, 1848. Working as a boy in his father's boat building plant, he later learned the carpenter's trade, and at the age of twenty went west. In Colorado he worked for awhile at his trade, and then became interested in mining. Having a taste for geology and mineralogy, he procured books on the subject and carefully studied them in connection with the natural features of the country. Possessed of intelligence, energy and any amount of pluck and patience, he worked for several years as a prospector under the most discouraging conditions, and was finally rewarded by striking a vein of ore as rich as any in the country, and opened the world-famous "Independence Gold Mine" in Cripple Creek, Colorado, so-called because his discovery was made on the 4th of July. He soon had large interests in other mines and other extensive business enterprises and a beautiful estate in Colorado Springs. Mr. Stratton died Sept. 14, 1902, a multimillionaire, in the town in which a few years before he had worked as a carpenter. A local paper a short time before his death describes him as a "modest, slender, frail-looking man, quiet, unassuming, unassertive in manner, and wholly inconspicuous in appearance except for his clear piercing gray eyes." By his will his wealth of more than eleven millions, after a few legacies to relatives and friends, was left to build an institution in Colorado Springs, to be known as the "Myron Stratton Home" in memory of his father,—an institution "for the unfortunate honest and worthy of Colorado, incapacitated for self-support by illness or accident, where they may come for rest, medical attendance and recuperation, and where they may be so cared for that they may forget they are objects of charity." This institution on a one-thousand acre tract of land is being developed by its trustees into an industrial school—a model home for homeless boys and girls as well as a home for the aged and sick. Connected with it is the beautiful Stratton Park, also a gift from Mr. Stratton to Colorado Springs.

Mr. Stratton married Zura V. Stewart in June, 1876.

STRATTONS OF VIRGINIA
THOMAS STRATTON OF THE EASTERN SHORE

(Chart E, Vol. I)

*"For praise, that's due, doth give no more
To worth than what it had before."*

DEAN SWIFT.

AT Portsmouth, Va., are the oldest records of Norfolk County, going back to 1640. The first mention of a Stratton there is Jan. 14, 1669, when Henry Stratton, planter of Linhaven, sold to Edward Atwood 200 acres of land for 3,000 lbs. of tobacco. This to include "all houses, buildings, orchards, gardens, woods, pastures and everything whatsoever belonging to, or in any way appertaining to, said land."

The next record is on March 15, 1669, and this time Henry Stratton sells to Thomas Goodacre a tract of land in Linhaven, County of Lower Norfolk in "consideration of valuable satisfaction to me in hand paid." This land is described as "a piece of land formerly given by William East (?) to my brother John Stratton." The deed is signed "Henry × Stratton his mark."

The Stratton name was not found again on the books at Norfolk for more than one hundred years, when in 1786 John Stratton, Sr., of Northampton bought land in the Borough of Norfolk, which in 1793 he deeded to his daughter Sarah Nivison.

In 1792, 1795 and 1797 are recorded deeds of land in the Borough of Norfolk bought and sold by John Stratton and wife Peggy.

And then comes this document which shows that a John Stratton was more than a half century ahead of Lincoln:

"Know all men by these presents, that I John Stratton of the Borrough of Norfolk and State of Virg<sup>a</sup> from full persuasion that freedom is the Natural right of all Men, do hereby Manumit and absolutely set free a negro man belonging unto me named

Peter Wakefield, about twenty five years of age, so that henceforth the above mentioned Negro shall be deemed adjudged and taken as and for a free person, to be at liberty to act for himself without let hindrance or molestation of me or any person or persons claiming or to claim, by, from or under me forever. In testimony hereof I do hereunto set my hand & affix my Seal this the 15th day of August 1795.

JOHN STRATTON.

At Hastings Court held the 28th day of Sept. 1795 this Deed of Emansipation from John Stratton to his negro Peter Wakefield and acknowledged by the said Stratton and ordered to be recorded.

Test. ALEX MOSELY.
C. N. C.

Which of the John Strattons of that period made this early "Deed of Emancipation" the compiler is not informed.

It will be seen that the records of the East Shore Strattons are yet very far from complete, and several sons are unaccounted for.* It is not unlikely some of them followed the trend of emigration toward "the west," and are the ancestors of untraced Strattons in Western Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

13. BENJAMIN STRATTON<sup>5</sup> (John,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>) was born in Northampton Co., Va., Oct. 18, 1721.† He married Elizabeth Stewart, Sept. 12, 1746. They lived in Stratton Manor (see Vol. I, pp. 142, 145), where Elizabeth died Sept. 15, 1773, "aged 49 years less seven months," and Benjamin, Feb. 15, 1784. He owned several plantations besides the Manor plantation, and his will shows him to have been a man of considerable wealth for that period. The title of "Mr." prefixed to his name in the county records indicates the esteem and respect in which he was held. He remodded Stratton Manor about 1795,

* Perhaps the time will come when some Stratton of this line, who is in a position to make an exhaustive research in Virginia and in England, may complete these records and so add interesting data to the slowly accumulating store of Virginia genealogy.

† It should be noted that John Stratton<sup>4</sup> had also a daughter Anne, who married a Mr. Jacob. (See his will, p. 151, Vol. I.)

and his name may be seen to-day carved in one of the stones of the chimney. (See picture, Vol. I).

Scott and his wife Elizabeth (Nichols), daughter of John Nichols of the Eastern Shore. Their son, Dr. William Stratton Stoakley, of Cheriton, Va., furnished the compiler with the photograph of Stratton Manor and with much valuable information concerning this line.

The Stoakleys are an early East Shore family. The records show that Francis Stoakley (or Stockly) with wife Jane were there in 1634. They had a son, John Stoakley, born about 1637, who died leaving a widow Elizabeth, who married, second, a John Stratton, whose parentage the writer has not been able to trace.

He was held in high respect and esteem by his fellow citizens. In 1743 he was a member of the House of Delegates for Northampton, and in 1774 his name appears on a committee of Safety for the same county. Feb. 15, 1754, he married Gertrude Tazewell, daughter of William and Sophia Tazewell. As early as 1786 he bought land in Norfolk, which in 1793 he deeded to his daughter, Sarah Nivison, and her son Wm. 25. BENJAMIN STRATTON<sup>6</sup> (Benjamin,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>) was born Apr. 22, 1762. By his father's will he came into possession of a plantation of 284 acres "on the seaside." This was probably the Stratton estate known as "Old Plantation," upon a part of which the town of Cape Charles now stands.* The estate passed out of the hands of the Strattons many years ago—probably at his death. He was married three times, first, to Susannah Henry, June 6, 1789. She died in 1792 and two years later he married Margaret Mapp Harmanson, who lived only a year. Sept. 4, 1799, he married, third, Esther Parsons, daughter of Thomas and Anna (Wise) Parsons.† She died in 1815. Mr. Stratton died two years later, on Easter morning, Apr. 6, 1817.

JOHN STRATTON<sup>6</sup> (John,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> Benjamin,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>) was born Aug. 19, 1769, "being on a Saturday at about 2 o'clock P. At the age of 32 he was a member of Congress from Virginia, re-elected in 1803.‡ About 1790 he built "Elkington," which still belongs to his descendants, a home so long noted for its genial hospitality.§ He died very suddenly of apoplexy, May 10, 1804, while on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Nivison, in Norfolk, and is buried in the yard of the historic old St. Paul's Church, where his grave may be seen, not far from the church, covered with a stone slab, about 3 by 6 feet, bearing an inscription to his memory. His death at the early age of thirty-six was greatly regretted, not only * Upon the death of her brother, William D. Stratton, she became the owner of Stratton Manor, which remained in the possession of her family until about the time of the civil war, when it was sold by her daughter, Mrs. John E. Nottingham—though the part of the estate north of the Bayside road had been sold earlier.

† In the Stratton Manor Register (see p. 146, Vol. I) the records are all given in this quaint old style.

‡ A letter of his written in 1803 contains this: "Life in Washington is very dull. We have to go to Alexandria for amusement, and something good to eat."

§ See picture in Vol. I, p. 148, from a photo furnished by a descendant, Mrs. Thomas C. Walston, of Williamsburg, daughter of Dr. G. L. Upshur, who thus writes of it: "This view of Elkington was taken from the southeast, and gives no idea of the grounds, which are extensive and beautiful, containing many large and unusually handsome trees of many varieties, and which are bordered on the north and west by a pretty inlet from Hunger's Creek. Just north of the house is the family burial ground, where are graves of five generations. The outside doors have bright brass locks, 12 by 7 inches, which were imported from England when the house was built, about 1790.

by his family and personal friends, but by the people whom he had represented in various public positions. The Norfolk Herald of May 12, 1804, contains a long article on Hon. John Stratton, from which the following is taken: "Selected for the discharge of public duties by those who best knew his worth, in the execution of all these trusts he so conducted himself, so faithfully performed his part, as to show that their confidence had not been misplaced, and on his retirement from various public affairs, he always carried with him the grateful and willing acknowledgments of those whom he had served." See p. 148 Vol. I.

June 3, 1793, he married at Yorktown, Va., Lucy Digges, daughter of Hon. Dudley and Elizabeth (Wormeley) Digges, of the Eastern Shore. She was born Oct. 13, 1771, and is buried in the family burial ground at Elkington.* See "Elkington," Vol. I.

* Dudley Digges was a member of the Council of Virginia under Patrick Henry, and a member of the Committee of Safety. He was a descendant of Sir Dudley Digges, who braved the Duke of Buckingham, and was committed to the Tower by King Charles I. He was twice married, his first wife being Martha, daughter of Henry and Martha (Burwell) Armistead.

† Many are the words of praise and admiration written of Anne Gertrude (Stratton) Parker—of her rare personality, her fine literary tastes and attainments, her exalted Christian character, her devotion to her church, and her many acts of benevolence. "Tender and gentle and loving always, she had her reward in the love and veneration not only of her own family but of the entire community," writes a descendant. (See her portrait which was furnished the compiler by her granddaughters, who still have the pearls worn when this portrait was painted.) Of her children, John Stratton Parker m. Cooper in 1792 for £400, a part of which he sold to Samuel Pyron in 1795 for £100. In 1800 John Stratton and Abner Cox bought land in the Borough of Norfolk of Cuddy Dunn. In the same year John Stratton, Richard Green, with others, trustees, bought land for the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in 1801 the same trustees sold a part of this church property to Wm. Atkinson. He married (perhaps 2nd marriage) Peggy Wilkins.

In 1805 John Stratton of Norfolk paid to Mary Stratton $820, for which he stood indebted to her, "being her portion of the estate of Elicia Stratton (deceased)." The witnesses to this are Thomas Stratton and Littleton Kendall. About this date he seems to have parted with all the land he had owned in the Borough of Norfolk. His wife, Peggy Stratton, signing the several deeds with him, and in May of this year he sold at public auction various articles of household furniture. He seems then to be preparing to leave Norfolk and the compiler has failed to find again his name on the records there.*

The compiler has failed to find anything more about them in Norfolk.

THOMAS STRATTON OF PITTSYLVANIA COUNTY

Dec. 1, 1764, a Thomas Stratton received a patent for 400 acres of land on South Branch of Sandy Creek in Pittsylvania Co., Virginia. Three years later 292 acres were surveyed to him on North Branch of Sandy Creek.* In 1778 he sold to Jeremiah White for £50 current money, and in 1783 he sold 12 acres to Robert Williams. There is nothing on the county books to show what became of the rest of the land, nor does Thomas Stratton's name again appear on the records. His name appears as a revolutionary soldier in a recently printed report of the Virginia state library. In 1771 a John Stratton was witness to prove a will of John King of Pittsylvania Co. He came from a distance and received pay for four days' attendance according to law. He is not mentioned again. In 1780, Benjamin Stratton and William Stratton owned land on Sandy Creek, and they bought and sold land in the county for about thirty years as shown by the deed books.

In 1804, Oct. 6th, Benjamin Stratton, William Stratton and Armistead Stratton gave to Triphena Stratton and Elizabeth Stratton for $200 a deed to a parcel of land on the waters of Sandy Creek, containing 100 acres. And on the same date William, Armistead, Elizabeth and Tryphena Stratton, for $200, made a deed to Benjamin Stratton for 98 acres on Sandy Creek.

Sept. 9, 1805, Elizabeth and Tryphena Stratton of Pittsylvania Co., Va., and Owen Stratton of Davidson Co., Tenn., sold to John White for £107, 10s. 100 acres on Sandy Creek.

From the above we gather that Benjamin, William, Owen,

* This land was surveyed by John Donehue, who a few years later was appointed by government to settle Indian difficulties along the frontier. He became so charmed with the beautiful country, "beyond the mountains," that he came home and persuaded hundreds of families to go with him to Tennessee. He was widely known and it was not difficult to persuade many to follow him. From 1778 to about 1810 emigration turned toward Middle Tennessee, many families stopping in Kentucky, and we have seen that among these pioneers were many Virginia Strattons.

Pittsylvania was formed from Halifax County in June 1767; Halifax from Brunswick in 1752; Henry County was formed from Pittsylvania in 1776, and Patrick County from Henry a few years later. This division of counties adds to the difficulty and expense of genealogical work, for to do thorough work it becomes necessary to search the records of each county for wills, deeds, marriage licenses, etc.

Armistead, Elizabeth and Tryphena were brothers and sisters, and that Thomas was their father.*

Of Tryphena nothing more is known. Elizabeth married Thomas Chambers in 1806 and settled in Robertson Co., Tenn. Owen seems to have gone from Davidson Co., Tenn., to Buckingham Co., N. C., and was living there in 1808, when he sold to Wm. Wimbush 97 acres of land on Sandy Creek. His name does not appear again in Pittsylvania Co.

Armistead continued to live in Pittsylvania Co., where he owned quite a large estate. He died about 1840. Royall King was the administrator of his estate. The books show nothing as to how it was distributed, or what became of it.†

Assuming this to be Thomas Stratton of the East Shore line (No. 14, p. 148, Vol. I), he is designated as Thomas<sup>5</sup> in the following records of the descendants of his sons Benjamin and William. He probably lived in King and Queen Co. for a while after leaving the Eastern Shore.

* In the following pages the compiler assumes this to be the relationship, and it seems altogether probable that this is the Thomas Stratton<sup>5</sup> of the Eastern Shore, who was born in 1722 and whose name was not found on East Shore records after 1758. At that date he was in Northampton Co. and witnessed a deed there, though he may have moved from there a few years earlier (see pp. 148 and 149, Vol. I). Notice, also, that this Thomas of the Eastern Shore had two brothers, Benjamin and William, after whom, perhaps, he named his sons.

† The compiler has a record of a William Stratton who may belong to this family. He was born Sept. 1, 1801, in Virginia, married, first, Mary Snow; second, Deliah Baldwin, Jan. 10, 1825, a daughter of John Baldwin. He was drowned in Buck River, Tenn., in 1842. He is said to have had a brother Thomas, who married Winnie ——— and had a son, Wm. Brock Stratton, who went west. He had children as follows:

Williamson, b. Nov. 14, 1825. Left home soon after his father's death and was never again heard from by the family.

Ansel, b. March 3, 1826; d. in Green Co., Mo., Sept. 25, 1882. Has a son, J. T. Stratton, living in Bettena, Okla.

Armistead, b. Oct. 4, 1829; m. Ann Brown; received a legacy from Virginia after his marriage.

Mary Ann, m. Henderson Bass; resided in Bassville, Mo.

Thomas, b. Dec. 26, 1832.

Louisa, m. Daniel Womback; resided in Caddo, Mo.

Jamima, m. A. G. Smith.

William A., b. May 1831; m. Sophonra Brown; resided in Fair Grove, Mo.

lutionary records of Virginia contain this statement: "Benjamin Stratton, b. 1750 in King and Queen Co., raised in Pittsylvania Co., enlisted in Col. Stevens' Regt. for 9 mos., lived in Henry Co. when application was made for pension in 1831." The record refers to Armistead Stratton as a living witness; pension paid to 1833. He married Eleanor —, whose name appears with his on a deed of 97 acres of land which he sold on Sandy Creek. Soon after this he bought a farm in Henry Co., where he died and where he has descendants still living.

Children:

+58 John.<sup>7</sup>

+59 Benjamin.<sup>7</sup>

And perhaps others.

[57.] WILLIAM STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (Thomas <sup>5</sup>) married Edith Adams. Her name appears with his on several deeds to land which he sold in Pittsylvania Co. The last of these deeds was in 1804, when they sold to Jacob Meadows, for $1,000, a farm of 300 acres lying on both sides of Sweetings Fork of Sandy Creek. They moved with their family to Logan Co., Ky., where they bought a farm, which is still in possession of their descendants. They were there as early at least as 1805, and were among the very first settlers of that county, which was then an almost unbroken forest with plenty of Indians about. The beautiful spring on this farm, famous throughout that region for its abundant supply of clear cold water, had been a favorite camping place for the Indians for untold years. Here Mr. and Mrs. Stratton lived to a good old age. Mr. Stratton died at the age of 92 years. Both are buried in the "Stratton Burial Ground" on this farm. His name appears on the pension report of the Secretary of War in 1835.

EDWARD STRATTON OF BERMUDA HUNDRED

(Chart F, Vol. I)

"Thoughts and deeds not pedigree are passports to enduring fame."

SKOBELEFF.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, settled by Thomas Dale, was originally in Henrico Co., Virginia. In 1674 this part of Henrico was set off as Chesterfield County. Edward Stratton<sup>1</sup> was then living at Bermuda Hundred (see p. 213, Vol. I).

Henrico was one of the original shires into which Virginia was divided. It embraced all the land along the James River from Charles City to the Blue Ridge, including what is now the counties of Goochland, Fluvanna, Albermarle, Nelson, Amherst, Bedford, Campbell, Appomattox, Cumberland and Powhatan. The Strattons were early scattered throughout this section as shown by the records of these counties. In 1728 Chesterfield and Goochland were cut off from Henrico. In 1748 Cumberland was formed, and about 1777 the present line between Cumberland and Powhatan was surveyed. There were Stratton farms on either side of this line, in the "Muddy Creek" region. Many of the records of these counties were destroyed during the Civil War. In Goochland County many papers on file in the County Clerk's office were taken out by the soldiers and scattered over the floor. After the soldiers left they were gathered up and stored in the attic where some of them remain to this day, an undeveloped source of historic and genealogic knowledge.* The following deed recently discovered among unindexed papers at

"A. CHEATWOOD,

* For the discovery of this deed, and for the collecting of much material on this line of Virginia Strattons, the author is indebted to the untiring efforts of the Hon. Thomas J. Stratton of Appomattox Co., who has rendered valuable aid in searching county records, interviewing many of the older Strattons, and soliciting records from others through correspondence.

This is probably the Henry Stratton who bought land of Richard Manning in Goochland Co., Va., by deed dated June 28, 1743. The compiler has found no other mention of a Henry Stratton at this date. The United States Census of 1785 gives a Henry Stratton, "head of a family of four," then living in Amherst Co. The books of that county contain no mention of him.

That Edward Stratton<sup>3</sup> had also other sons is quite certain although proof is still lacking. The above census gives a John Stratton then (1785) living in Amherst Co., "head of a family of twelve." The county books show that he was there as early as 1771. He belonged to the Virginia militia in June, 1781, and his name appears occasionally from that date to 1796, after which no mention of him has been found there. Also Suriah (or Seraiah) Stratton, "head of a family of seven," was living in Rockingham Co. in 1785. His name appears on a list of Revolutionary soldiers, Oct. 25, 1780. Of him the writer has no further knowledge.* It is not unlikely that these families migrated to Southwest Virginia and Kentucky.

On page 219, Vol. I, the compiler asked for information concerning William Stratton<sup>4</sup> (No. 10, Chart F), son of Edward Stratton.<sup>3</sup> This led to much correspondence and many hours of research. The records of many Virginia counties were searched, and many older Strattons interviewed. Finally, the will of William Stratton <sup>4</sup> was found recorded in Powhatan County, as well as other information concerning him and his family, and many of his descendants traced to the present generation. These are given on the following pages together with the descendants of his brother, Thomas Stratton.*

10. WILLIAM STRATTON <sup>4</sup> (Edward,<sup>3</sup> Edward,<sup>2</sup> Edward<sup>1</sup>) lived in Powhatan Co., Va., where he accumulated considerable property—owned many slaves and a large tract of land which was divided among his children, who, as they married, settled around the old home.<sup>4</sup> His will, a copy of which is given below, was made in 1760. No wife is mentioned, showing that she died before that date. The date of his death is not known, although in the will he describes himself as being “very sick and weak,” he may have lived some years longer. Among his descendants it is understood that he “lived to a good old age,” and was one of the prominent planters of that region. His will was not probated until 1780.

A large part, if not the whole, of Powhatan was once embraced in Chesterfield County. William Stratton<sup>4</sup> was deeded land on the south side of the James River by his mother in 1749 (see p. 218, Vol. I).

and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I give and recommend my soul into the hands of almighty God that gave and for my body I commend it to the Earth to be buried in a christian like and decent manner at the discretion of my executor, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath been pleased God to bless me in this life with, I give and dispose of as follows, first I would that all my just debts and funeral charges be paid, also I give and bequeath to my beloved son William the place and house where I now live with two hundred Acres more or less of land adjoining and the remainder of the said traet of land that I now live on I give and bequeath to my two sons Richard & Peter to belong to them as the lines are already laid off to them and their heirs forever.

Children:

—38* Peter,<sup>6</sup> m. Polly Street in 1807.

—39 Edward.<sup>6</sup> Probably this is the Edward who married Polly Flippen, d. of Philip Flippen, Aug. 17, 1807.

+40 James,<sup>6</sup> settled in Tennessee about 1805.

—41 Richard,<sup>6</sup> of whom information is desired.†

—42 Frances,<sup>6</sup> m. James Hix, Oct. 20, 1788.

—43 Sarah.<sup>6</sup>

† This may have been the Richard Stratton who married Jane Mary Daniel July 5, 1814, and who died in 1817, leaving a daughter, Ann Richard, who inherited from her father a farm on "Muddy Creek," and who married Dr. A. M. Cantrell Sept. 3, 1834. Peter Stratton, as her guardian, gave his consent to this marriage. Jane was daughter of Leonard and Mary (Spears) Daniel. Three years after Richard's death

15c. EDWARD STRATTON <sup>5</sup> (William,<sup>4</sup> Edward,<sup>3</sup> Edward,<sup>2</sup> Edward<sup>1</sup>) married Sarah Ligon about 1778. She was the daughter of William and Ann Ligon of Cumberland Co. They lived in Powhatan Co. on a farm that was a part of his father's original estate. Here he was a prosperous planter, owning many slaves. His will, made in 1817 and proved the following year, is given below.

Children:—Born in Powhatan Co., Va.

- +44 Thomas,<sup>6</sup> b. 1782.
- +45 William,<sup>6</sup>
- 46 Edward,<sup>6</sup>
- +47 John Robert,<sup>6</sup>

- +50 Moseley Ligon,<sup>6</sup>
- 51 Elizabeth Ann,<sup>6</sup> m. Wm. A. Martin.
- 52 David T.,<sup>6</sup> m. — Parker.

John Robert and Moseley Ligon were known by these double names, and so wrote the names themselves though the father's will does not give the middle initials. The will indicates that the older sons had already received their portion of the estate. Thomas is known to have settled in Tennessee before his father's death. What became of Edward,<sup>6</sup> George<sup>6</sup> and David T.<sup>6</sup>?

44. THOMAS STRATTON <sup>6</sup> (Edward,<sup>5</sup> William,<sup>4</sup> Edward,<sup>3</sup> Edward,<sup>2</sup> Edward<sup>1</sup>) was one of the early settlers of Davidson Co., Tenn. He was born in Powhatan Co., Va., in 1782. Sept. 5, 1806, he married Elizabeth Swan in Powhatan Co. She died March 10, 1808. She was a daughter of Thomas Swan, deceased, and Ferguson Taylor was her guardian at the time of her marriage. Soon after her death Mr. Stratton went to Tennessee and remained about three years. Returning to Virginia he married, Mar. 25, 1812, Elizabeth B. Swan, a cousin of his first wife and daughter of Willis S. and Elizabeth (McLaren) Swan. Three years later they settled five miles north of Nashville on a plantation, a part of which is still in the possession of his descendants. In Spring Hill Cemetery, once a part of this Stratton farm, is a stone bearing this inscription:

Sacred to the memory of
 Thomas Stratton
 who was born in Powhatan County, Va.,
 on the 31st day of July, 1782,
 and departed this life in Sumner County, Tenn.,

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Stratton died May 8, 1837, in the 38th year of her age. Late in life Mr. Stratton married Mrs. Elizabeth (Green) Hudson of Sumner Co. He was an active, energetic man, "big souled, entertaining largely, having many friends, owned many slaves, to whom he was a kind master." He was a regular attendant of the Baptist church. Later in life he became very corpulent and during his last years, being unable to get through his carriage doors, he rode to church every Sunday morning in his ox cart, attended by his devoted servant. The home in which his children were born is still standing, though in a delapidated condition. The home in which the family later lived, and from which the daughters were married, is still occupied by his descendants.

155. THOMAS JEFFERSON STRATTON <sup>7</sup> (James,<sup>6</sup> William,<sup>5</sup> William,<sup>4</sup> Edward,<sup>3</sup> Edward,<sup>2</sup> Edward<sup>1</sup>) was born in Sumner Co., Tenn., Aug. 5, 1817. He was a soldier in the Florida war. May 10, 1838, he married Caroline M. Golladay. They were married by Rev. Geo. Donnell in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church at Lebanon, Tenn. She was born Mar. 16, 1813, and died Aug. 15, 1865. She was a daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth (Shall) Golladay, who were married in 1804 in Greensburg, Westmoreland Co., Pa. In August, 1869, Mr. Stratton married Mrs. Fannie (Watkins) Helm, widow of Henry Helm. She died in Nashville, Mar. 23, 1909. Mr. Stratton was a merchant of Lebanon. Coming there in early manhood, by his energy and integrity he built up an extensive trade, reaching far into the country around Lebanon. He bought large quantities of goods, going East to Philadelphia, New York and other cities for them. There being no railroads in that section, the goods were brought down the Ohio River and up the Cumberland to Nashville, and then by wagon or stage to Lebanon. The old red stage coach which brought passengers, mail and express from Nashville, with its driver on top blowing his bugle and driving four, six and sometimes eight horses, was a picturesque scene of those pioneer days. Later Mr. Stratton, in connection with his son, Samuel G. Stratton, organized the Bank of Lebanon and was its president until his death, Jan. 18, 1885.

STRATTONS OF EASTERN KENTUCKY

As early as 1790 there were Strattons living in Floyd and Pike counties, Kentucky.* One of the earliest of these was Col. Harry Stratton. He died about 1850, aged nearly ninety years. He was a member of the State Legislature, and for many years an officer in the State Militia. His second wife was the widow of Maj. Spencer Atkins of Kentucky. With him was a Richard Stratton who died about 1833, at an advanced age, and a Joel Stratton, a surveyor.† Of their families we have no authentic records. Hiram, Tandy, Cornelius and John Stratton (whose descendants are given on the following pages) may have been younger brothers of the above, but no proof has been found of their relationship, or parentage, or even to which line of Strattons they belonged. They are here placed with the Bermuda Hundred line, but future research may prove that they are descended * Among their descendants are many "traditions" as to their Virginia ancestors—of a Solomon Stratton who had ten sons and was known among his neighbors as "King Solomon"; a Henry Stratton who lived to a great age and had sons and grandsons in the Revolution; a John Stratton who came from Amherst Co. and had many sons; of intermarriages with many prominent Virginia families; of "unsettled estates" from which legacies are due the descendants to-day, etc., etc. But no authentic records have been found.

† Taylor and Garrard, who from 1794 to 1800 made large land surveys for the government in the section now covered by McDowell, Mingo, Mercer, Wyoming and Logan counties, West Virginia, and Floyd and Pike counties, Kentucky, speak of Joel Stratton as their pilot. He is said to have gone with George Roger Clark on his expedition to the Northwest.

from the Eastern Shore line, or from one of the New Jersey Quaker families of Strattons who early settled in Virginia. (See Vol. I, also first two pages of "Bermuda Hundred Strattons," in this volume.) Perhaps some reader may be able to give some clew to their classification. Perhaps what is given here may interest some other Stratton to make a more thorough research than has yet been made. Some court, or county records, family Bible, or grave stones may yet be found which will make the whole matter clear.* The following records are compiled from correspondence with many of their descendants:

[501.] HIRAM STRATTON came from Virginia to Floyd Co., Ky., while a boy. He married Hannah Leslie, and settled on a farm on the east side of Jobe's Creek, four miles from Prestonsburg. She was a daughter of Robert and Esther Leslie, and was born in Tazewell Co., Va. He died of typhoid fever early in life, about 1816, while his children were small. His wife survived him many years.

* Another, yet unplaced, Stratton, a Confederate soldier, was Franklin Stratton (or Benjamin Franklin) of South Carolina. He was born about 1812, and was one of three brothers. He was a planter near Columbia; an Episcopalian. He m. Marian (?) Marion, a granddaughter of Gen. Francis Marion of Revolutionary fame. She died while their two sons were small boys. He was with Hoke's North Carolians, C. S. A. He and his elder son George were killed at Gettysburg July 3, 1863. His other son, Frank, born Feb. 29, 1844, served in 2nd South Carolina, and 11th Mississippi, Haygood's Brigade. He m. Ida Alice Dill Dec. 28, 1873. He is a civil engineer. Has lived in Pittsburg, Springfield, Ill. (where his two children were born), San Francisco and Brooklyn. Children: Ida Marian, m. Herman L. Erickson; Charles Stonewall, m. Marguerite Anna Heene Dec. 21, 1907; children, Walter Robert and Charles Howard; residence, Richmond Hill, L. I. Perhaps some reader of this may know where to place this family.

Also, the names D. P. H. Stratton and Peter A. Stratton of Kentucky appear on the Mexican War Rolls. To what family do they belong?

[504.] JOHN STRATTON was born in Virginia in 1787, and came with his parents to Floyd Co., Ky., a young boy. Jan. 31, 1808, he married Dicie Mayo.* In 1812 they left Floyd Co. for "the west," stopping for awhile in Shelby and Jefferson counties, Ky., where he had relatives. Crossing the Ohio at Louisville, after a trip of nearly 300 miles, they reached Fort Harrison (now Terre Haute). Here Mr. Stratton left his family until the Indians, then extremely hostile, became sufficiently quiet to warrant his taking them any further in safety. Then in the spring of 1817, in company with Col. Mayo, Remember Black-

* One descendant writes that Dicie was a daughter of John Mayo; another that her parents were Rev. William and Elizabeth Mayo of Patrick Co., Va. She had a brother, Jonathan Mayo, born in Patrick Co. March 25, 1793. In some family records the name is written Dicea. Their descendants say that John Stratton's ancestors intermarried with the Wilkins family in Virginia (see pp. 146-149, Vol. I).

man, Robin Brown, and Mr. Whitley, he crossed the Wabash, and "took up" land 12 miles east of the present town of Paris, Edgar Co., Ill., in what was later called Stratton township. They were in time to prepare the land and plant small crops of corn, and a few months later brought their families over, becoming the first white settlers in that part of Illinois. John Stratton is said to have been the "first white man that ate his dinner in his own house west of the Wabash," and his daughter Charlotte was the first white child born in Edgar Co. For several years these brave pioneers, surrounded by hostile Indians, suffered many hardships and deprivations. The settlement was known as "Clay Prairie." Henry Clay owned a large tract of land there and was instrumental in bringing these Kentucky and Virginia families there. Among them were the Hunters, McGuires, Whitleys, Buntains, Martins, Lesleys, Mayos and Blackmans, with all of whom the Strattons intermarried. Henry Clay, being a warm friend, visited among them several times. John Stratton was one of the first to plant an orchard in the county, and he and Col. Mayo introduced sheep raising into the county in 1822, purchasing 130 head of sheep in Kentucky, driving them across the country about 600 miles into Edgar Co. and selling them to people who wished to embark in the new industry. "Mr. Stratton was a man of sterling integrity; progressive, enterprising, yet quiet and unassuming, fond of reading in days when reading matter was not easily obtained, and a man of much more than ordinary intelligence. He gave to his large family of children the best educational advantages the new country afforded, and they were all rather above the average in intellectual ability." He died in April, 1871, at the home of his son, W. J. Stratton, in Momence, Ill. In the cemetery at Union Corners is a monument to his memory. His wife died several years earlier and is buried at Paris, Ill. They were members of the Methodist Church.

STRATTONS OF NEW JERSEY MARK STRATTON OF EVESHAM

(Chart M, Vol. I)

*"There's a feeling within us that loves to revert
To the old, old times that are past."*

PRENTICE.

IN 1914, in repairing and putting in order the old orthodox "Friends' Burial Ground" at Medford, N. J., in preparation for the centennial celebration (one hundred years since the present meeting house was built), a brick was found below the ground near a grave with "M. S. 1754" marked on it. It is suggested that this marks the grave of Mark Stratton, as his was the first burial there. At any rate, this is interesting in connection with "Grandmother Cowperthwaite's Sketch" given on page 240, Vol. I, of this work. This would put his birth back to 1687, as he was sixty-seven years old when he died. Headstones were not permitted by Quakers at that date. If, as Grandmother Cowperthwaite's Sketch indicates, Mark and Emanuel Stratton "came out of Old England in 1702," a research among the many sources of information in England would be quite likely to discover their ancestry there and perhaps show some connection between them and the early Boston Strattons, who were also Quakers, one of whom, it will be remembered, married a granddaughter of the eminent Ann Hutchinson. Mark Stratton was a man of some prominence in the Quaker community in which he lived and was quite well to do for that time and place. More than a thousand of his descendants are traced in this volume. Emanuel Stratton died early in 1725, twelve years after his marriage to Hannah Hancock. His son Jacob may be the ancestor of the Strattons who, a generation later, were living in Northern New Jersey.

Although brought up a Quaker, after his marriage he united with the Christian Church, of which his wife was a member. In the last year of the war he enlisted in Co. B, 176th Ohio Volunteers Infantry. In April, 1876, he moved with his family to Lincoln, Neb. In 1880 he obtained in Hitchcock Co., Neb., several thousand acres of land for a cattle ranch, and on this tract the town of Stratton, Neb., was founded. Mr. Stratton was a man of quiet manners, enterprising and industrious. He died in Lincoln May 6, 1893. Mrs. Stratton died Nov. 14, 1904. On their farm near Lincoln, "a great farmhouse with some fifteen rooms on the ground floor alone, full of relics and keepsakes," was built with a view of some time converting it into a home for aged ladies. For years they planned for this, and in Oct., 1891, corporation papers were filed, under the laws of Nebraska, and a deed of trust was made to four trustees, but before the matter was settled Mr. Stratton's health failed; he grew worse, and on May 6, 1893, he died.

After his death Mrs. Stratton's one aim in life was to carry out the plans to found a "Stratton Home for aged gentlewomen," but death came before her earnest efforts had met with success.

*It is not at all certain that William Stratton of Spottsylvania Co. and Absolom Stratton of Amherst Co. belong to this line. They may belong to one of the old Virginia lines. Some of their descendants spell the name Strattan, and among some of them is a tradition that their ancestor came to Virginia from New Jersey, which has led the compiler to place them here until further research may determine their rightful place.

The support of a brother and sister devolved on him when he was still but a boy. He prepared himself for Hanover College, but after two years of study there was forced to quit for want of funds. He entered the law office of Gen. Wm. O. Buttle at Carrollton, Ky. At the outbreak of the Mexican war he enlisted in the First Ky. Volunteer Regt. and served throughout the hostilities. At the close of the war he took up his residence at Louisville, obtaining a position at the Court House. He became actively

He was admitted to the bar in 1866, and when not holding public office practiced his profession. Mr. Stratton was always interested in the welfare of the city, and was instrumental in forming the Louisville School of Reform. He studied law for its use in his business and became one of the best real estate lawyers in the city. He was instrumental in building up some of the most important parts of the Louisville of to-day. With a very limited early education he so improved the hours he had for study and reading that his conversation was a delight and his companionship enjoyed by every one he met. He collected a large library, and spent much time with his books. He was prominent in the Masonic orders. He was interested in politics and was elected to several offices in Louisville on the Republican ticket, and in 1901 made a good showing as Republican nominee for Mayor in that Democratic city. ## STRATTONS OF SUSSEX COUNTY

(Chart O, Vol. I)

"Strong are the ties of kindred." ÆSCHYLUS.

THE homes of Daniel and Thomas Stratton were in Vernon township, not far from the line dividing Sussex Co., New Jersey, from Orange Co., New York. When Capt John Sanford organized his regiment of Orange County men in April, 1777, Thomas Stratton enlisted in his company, but was soon transferred to Col. Oliver Spencer's 4th New Jersey Volunteers, and the papers granting his pension in 1820 are on file at Trenton. He was then living in Beaver Co., Pa., while Daniel Stratton settled in Hancock Co., O. No authentic record of their parentage has been found, though diligent search has been made for it. It seems most probable that they are descended either from Mark Stratton or Emanuel Stratton of Evesham, N. J., but we have no proof of it.

His will, recorded in the Probate Office of Richland Co., was made June 15, 1843, and he died a few days later. He married Mary Logan, daughter of James Logan, in Beaver Co.*

*"James Logan was President of the Colonial Council of Pennsylvania in 1736. When Gov. Gordon died, in August of that same year, Logan acted as Governor for two years until a successor arrived from England. John Logan (son of James) and his only son were drowned in the Ohio River, in Beaver Co., Pa., in 1800. His wife died from the shock of this terrible bereavement, leaving three daughters, Rachel, Mary and Catherine, the eldest seven years and the youngest but a few days old. Their maternal grandfather, James Parks, in whose house the most of their youth was spent, fought in the French and Indian wars, and in the Revolution, and lived to the great age of one hundred and eleven years. Rachel became the wife of Daniel Stratton (No. 15, Vol. I), and her memory is revered by over two hundred descendants. Mary mar-
